Engineers Strike Six Major Airlines

Snarls Both Domestic, Overseas Travel: Seek Injunctions Forbidding Walkout

NEW YORK (AP) — A flight engineers' strike against six of the nation's major domestic and overseas airlines returned to full bloom late Saturday after a Presidential appeal gave earlier indications of a temporary settlement.

A spokesman for the 3,500 - member engineers union admitted the travel-crippling walkout was unauthorized, but expressed doubt this would have any effect on bringing the engineers back to work.

Thousands of persons milled around airports across the nation waiting for flights that eventually were canceled or delayed for hours by the strike action and sympathy walkouts.

The temporary settlement appeared near about noon when officials of the union ordered strikers against Pan American World Airways to return to their jobs in compliance with President Kennedy's request for a 60-day cooling off period while a special board studied the labor disagreement.

It was Pan American flight engineers who touched off the strike Friday night at New York's Idlewild Airport in a dispute over a reduction of work time for the engineers.

The walkout soon mushroomed across the nation as flight engineers for other carriers began to report sick or failed to report at all.

Airline officials immediately termed the stoppage an illegal walkout — and injunctions were sought by several lines to force the engineers back to work.

Shortly after the stoppage erupted again, a federal court order was issued in Brooklyn barring the flight engineers union from engaging in strikes or refusing to accept flight assignments.

Judge Leo F. Rayfiel's order forbade the engineers to strike be-

Kennedy's Defense Budget May Exceed Korean War Peak

WASHINGTON (AP) — The defense budget, as revised by the Kennedy administration for the next fiscal year, may approach or exceed the peak spending in the Korean War.

The estimate for the year starting next July 1, as submitted to Congress by the Eisenhower administration, was $42.9 billion. Speculation is that additions to this may range up to $2 billion. Such a boost would top the $43.7 billion military budget in fiscal 1953, peak spending year of the Korean War.

At the Pentagon, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara and his aides are working up a new study of strategy as directed by President Kennedy. Until that is completed—by the end of this month—and turned over to the President and his budget makers, no firm estimate of the revised military budget can be made.

However, some preliminary moves, made in response to Kennedy's request for accelerated action in defense programs, obviously will cost more money which presumably would appear in the revised fiscal 1962 bill.

First of these items is addition of 55 jet and propjet transport planes for troop and cargo airlift.

Responding to the President's request, the Pentagon—like other federal departments—is trying to eliminate spending for items or organizations that have become obsolete.

But the constantly mounting requirements of defense virtually assure that an increase in military spending is in prospect.

These requirements arise out of the unrelenting arms race with the Communist powers and swift strides made in weapon technology. The demands have confronted both Democratic and Republican administrations since World Wor II.

In the nearly 16 years since that global conflict — including three years of Korean War — the United States has spent more than half a trillion dollars on defense.

Goldberg Defends His Report On U.S. Economy

NEW YORK (AP)— Secretary of Labor Arthur Goldberg said Saturday the answer to those who accuse him of painting too black a picture of the nation's economy lies in the facts.

"To ignore the gravity and the truth of this recession," Goldberg added, "is to do the worst kind of disservice to the American people."

Goldberg, speaking at a testimonial luncheon given in his honor by the Liberal Party of New York State, replied to critics who, he said, charge that "all of my economic brushes are black."

The seriousness of the picture cannot be ignored, he said, "with 5½ million persons wanting to work but unable to find work, with the incomes of those families cut off so the mortgage payment and the doctor bill and the tuition fees suddenly go begging, with over half of our major industrial areas classified as depressed, with industrial production declining again for the sixth straight month, with payrolls and personal income falling off, with long-term unemployment growing at a rapid rate."

Saying that the recession will eventually come to an end through both government action and normal economic factors, Goldberg added: "Let us remember that the gravity of the present unemployment problem is due not only to business cutting back but to a long-term trend throughout the manufacturing industries, a trend especially severe during a recession but latent in good times as well.

"The poor recovery from the 1958-59 recession . . is sufficient reason, I believe, to express deep concern about the economy getting back onto track as soon as possible, and ample reason to call a spade a spade."

Cancel 29 Flights In St. Louis Area

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Three major airlines cancelled at least 29 flights from Lambert-St. Louis Airport Saturday and Saturday night because of a wildcat strike of flight engineers. Seven other flights were cancelled by bad weather in the East.

The airlines involved were Eastern, American and Trans World Airlines, which have a total of 73 flights originating or passing through St. Louis.

Spokesman for Eastern and American said normal service couldn't be expected before late Sunday, even if the engineers return to work.

Mobs Attack U.S., Belgian Property In Asia, Africa

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Student mobs attacked Belgian and U.S. property in Asia and Africa Saturday in continuing violent protests over the slaying of Congo ex-Premier Patrice Lumumba.

Two screaming crowds of Indonesian youths, each about 1,000 strong, forced their way into the Belgian legation and the residences of the U.S. and Belgian ambassadors in Jakarta. They smashed windows, kicked in doors and wrecked furniture.

American Ambassador Howard P. Jones was away at the time. Belgian envoy L. A. Van den Berge received advance word of the attack and fled to the home of a neighbor. He charged the rioters were "mainly Communist-inspired."

About 25 youths and police were injured in Bombay, India, when pro-Lumumba demonstrators attacked police barring their way to the Belgian consulate.

Protest Polaris Base

Russell Launches Drive For Nuclear Disarmament

LONDON (AP) — Philosopher Bertrand Russell launched his civil disobedience campaign for nuclear disarmament Saturday, leading thousands of Britons in a sit-down demonstration outside the London Defense Ministry.

Another demonstration — like Russell's against the projected American Polaris base on Scotland's Holy Loch — massed more than 7,000 marchers in the streets of Glasgow.

The rallies in Britain's two biggest cities were the largest public protests so far against the Polaris base and nuclear weapons. An estimated 12,00 persons took part in the two demonstrations.

Close to 5,000 marched from London's Marble Arch to a rally in Trafalgar Square which was addressed by Earl Russell. The elderly philosopher-peer had announced in advance he was ready to go to jail rather than abandon his "sitdown" strike. But police made no arrests.

Jamming a felt hat on his thick gray thatch of hair, Russell led the marchers to the government district in Whitehall. A box-formation of police, shoulder-to-shoulder, barred his way outside the Defense Ministry. So Russell, now 88, sat down on the sidewalk Behind him the sidewalks were soon covered as, row on row, the marchers followed his example. And soon the sidewalks on three sides of the ministry were blocked by seated figures.

Reinforced police squads of around 400 watched quietly, but made no effort to move the demonstrators on.

Fire trucks stood by to use hoses on the crowd if the demonstration got out of hand. Magistrates were ready at Bow Street court to deal with arrests.

It was one of the most orderly displays of disobedience ever seen in London. For three hours the demonstrators sat on the cold sidewalk —playing chess, reading, talking, drinking tea from vacuum flasks.

The demonstrators were well-wrapped against the February cold.

Russell eventually was allowed through the police line to fix a declaration to the door of the ministry. An official dissuaded him from using a nail and offered him a piece of tape. Russell accepted it and stuck up the protest. It was later taken inside the ministry.

Illinois Legislature Takes Up First Money Bills This Week

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Illinois' touch-and-go financial situation comes under renewed legislative scrutiny this week when the administration's first big money bill approaches a major hurdle in the General Assembly.

The measure, a $67 million deficiency appropriation for public aid, will be heard by the senate when the lawmakers go back to work Tuesday.

Without the appropriation, spokesmen for Gov. Otto Kerner contend, the Illinois Public Aid Commission's fund would run dry by March 1 and thousands of persons on its rolls would cease receiving aid.

The IPAC says federal aid grants-in-aid will cover about $24,840,000 of the figure, leaving $42,510,000 to be raised from state general revenues.

On the eve of Tuesday's session, Kerner will hold his second top-level discussion on the state's financial plight with cabinet members and Democratic legislative leaders.

Budget authorities estimate the state's General Revenue Fund might fall about $30 million short of meeting state obligations before the end of the biennium June 30.

A money measure considered prime as a booster for Southern Illinois economy is also slated for hearing Tuesday. It would appropriate $1,211,150 as the state's share for construction of the Shelbyville and Carlyle Reservoirs during the next biennium.

The bill, authored by Sen. Dwight Friedrich, R-Centralia, calls for at least $308,400 to be allocated for the Shelbyville project, which is still in the planning stage. Both of the Kaskaska River projects are expected to be completed within six years.

Another bill to be given a hearing would eliminate the $2 annual admission fees for automobiles at state parks. The bill, introduced by Sen. Gordon Kerr, R-Brookport, also would eliminate the 10 cent admission fee for individuals.

A measure sponsored by Sangamon County representatives calling for a free gate at the State Fair goes before the Agriculture Committee for a hearing.

The Senate Committee on Elections will hear two major bills on voter registration and requirements.

Oklahoma Hit By 2 Tornadoes, Damage Is Heavy

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)— Oklahomans surveyed the wreckage of the year's first tornadoes Saturday. The damage was fairly heavy but there was no loss of life.

Residents of storm - battered areas credited early warnings with saving lives and keeping the injury toll to 14.

Two areas were hit. One was just east of Oklahoma City. The other was a line in south-central Oklahoma running northeastward from Stratford to Konawa to Wewoka. Hardest hit was Konawa.

City Manager Granville Shed estimated property damage might reach $2.5 million in Konawa. Only a small amount of power had been restored and city officials said it probably would be Sunday before water supply is back in operation. Water in bottles and cartons was being handed out and there was enough on hand, they said.

In all, five persons were injured. But it could have been worse. Learning that a storm was approaching, fireman Earl Gassaway blew a warning siren for 15 minutes before the twister hit about 7 p.m.

One person was injured at Stratford. There were no injuries at Wewoka despite the fact that about 150 homes received some wind damage, mostly roofs being blown off.

In the area east of Oklahoma City several homes and house trailers were flattened. Six persons were injured but almost all were released after being treated for minor lacerations.

Doubt Castro's Control Shaken By Opposition

HAVANA (AP)—Insurgent opposition reported breaking out all over Cuba like a bad case of measles may be troublesome to Fidel Castro. But there is no indication here it has shaken his firm control of the island's six million people.

The prime minister holds an overwhelming superiority in arms and manpower over relatively small bands of insurgents now operating in scattered areas.

He has pitted an estimated 50,000 men, mostly militiamen, against rebels in the Escambray Mountains of Las Villas Province.

An undated letter reported received here by a relative of an Escambray rebel described the insurgent situation as desperate, telling how the rebel and a few comrades were cut off by government troops and feared liquidation unless they could link up with the main rebel force.

But a trained military observer who visited the area said all is not well with Castro's militiamen, either.

He said vast confusion reigns among the government fighters and that some have been forced to forage for food. And in Havana Saturday, three sources reported seeing truckloads of government militiamen, apparently under arrest, being taken from the Havana railroad station. Some of the citizen-soldiers were quoted as shouting they were detained "because we refused to fight our brothers," apparently meaning the Escambray insurgents.

Reports from Santiago said 200 to 300 persons have been seized in the past few days in the Santiago - Guantanamo area in a roundup of suspected anti-Castro elements. Among those seized, according to the reports, were 15 members of Castro's police and army units at Guantanamo City.

Against Castro's military power — strongest ever seen in Cuba— insurgent forces can pit only a few hundred trained and well-equipped men, most of them now encircled in the Escambrays.

The rebels' strongest weapons appear to be stouthearted determination and the hope of substantial support from outside Cuba.

Shows Satellites Can Be Converted Into Maneuverable Military Space Vehicles

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — Discoverer XXI shot into orbit Saturday, then — by restarting its engine on a signal from the ground — showed how currently passive sky spies can be converted into maneuverable military space craft.

The Air Force said this was the first time an Agena B. satellite vehicle had been restarted in orbit.

The Agena engine was ignited on the satellite's first pass around the earth's poles.

Maj. Gen. O. J. Ritland, commander of the Air Force Missile Division, said that Saturday's attempt was only to test the restart system.

"It is another successful experiment to perfect the system for satellite stabilization and control in orbit," the general said.

No attempt to recover any part of the satellite will be made.

A satellite capable of restarting its engine in space could:

1. Speed up, slow down or dart off in another direction to dodge a ballistic missile sent to destroy it. It would be much harder to hit than the high-flying U2 plane shot down by the Soviet Union last spring.

2. Change the shape, altitude or angle of its orbit on command.

When perfected, it could overhaul other satellites for inspection, even intercept enemy ICBMs.

Able to rendezvous in space, a group of such satellites could join to form a way station for interplanetary travel.

There has been some speculation that the recent Soviet Venus rocket demonstrated a restart capability but Soviet announcements were too meager for accurate judgment.

Discoverer XXI, the second launched in 27 hours, roared into the sky at 2:58 p.m.

The launching was delayed sev-

U.N. Should Block All Interference In Congo, U.S. Decides

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy administration has decided that United Nations forces in the Congo should be empowered to block outside arms or troop intervention, as threatened by the Soviet Unions.

Under this decision the use of force in an effort to isolate the Congo from outside interference is being strongly supported, along with other measures aimed at stopping the civil war raging there.

President Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk attached the highest priority to evolving measures for meeting the Congo crisis with all possible speed.

They are reported fearful that a breakdown of the U.N. peacemaking mission in the face of heavy attack by the Soviet Union would prove to be a disaster plunging most of Africa into the cold war and endangering world peace.

But there is some hopeful feeling in high quarters here that the Soviet government badly overplayed its hand following disclosure of the slaying of former Congolese Premier Patrice Lumumba. Early this week, Moscow demanded withdrawal of U.N. forces from the Congo within a month and pledged assistance to the rebel, pro-Communist regime of Antoine Gizenga, a Lumumba lieutenant.

Sputnik To Pass Center Of Venus By 112,000 Miles

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union announced Saturday night the 1,148-pound station it fired aloft last Sunday will pass Venus "at a distance of not more than 180,000 kilometers (about 112,000 miles) from the center of Venus."

This was the first word from Soviet authorities on what would happen to the device when it reached the orbit of the bright planet.

The previous Soviet statements merely had said it was aimed toward Venus and would reach the area in the latter half of May.

The prediction of the rocket's passage by Venus was based on a radio report which was received from the station Friday.

At that time the station was 1,180,625 miles from the earth and speeding away at 2.4 miles per second.

The announcement, released by Tass, the Soviet news agency, said the station is traveling on a course "close to the calculated one." There was no other indication just how close or how far off.

Seasons Clash, Fling Rain, Snow, Sleet At Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winter banged into spring-like weather and flung sleet, heavy rain and up to 15 inches of snow with hat-high drifts at the Midwest Saturday.

Skidding temperatures glazed streets and iced power lines snapped.

Fifteen inches of snow covered Spencer, Iowa, with 10 inches falling between midnight and noon.

Wisconsin got its first general storm of the winter—a wildly contrasting display which characterized the Midwest weather hodgepodge.

Heavy snow, with blizzard conditions reported in some localities, hit Wisconsin's northern two-thirds. A band of sleet and freezing rain iced the midsection as heavy rain struck the southwest.

Mammoth 10-ton snowplows, unused for a couple of seasons, battled—vainly in places—against wind-blown drifts that piled as high as six feet.

Many cars were reported stalled.

Power lines broke in Wisconsin and Iowa.

Storms developed as a surge of cold air pushed into muggy warm weather over the middle Mississippi and lower Ohio valleys.

A record high temperature for the date, 60 degrees at noon, was recorded in Chicago. Seventy-five miles north, Milwaukee's temperature was 22 degrees lower.

Near zero readings dominated

AFL-CIO Chiefs Hail Management, Labor Committee

By NORMAN WALKER

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Organized labor leaders Saturday hailed President Kennedy's new top-level, labor-management committee as a long-needed opportunity to work out solutions to some of the nation's most pressing problems.

AFL-CIO chiefs here for winter union meetings gave assurances that they won't team up with the advisory group's public members to ram home policies over industry objections.

Instead, they said that in order for policies to be implemented they must have common consent.

The union leaders named to Kennedy's 21-member group said they viewed their role not as partisan representatives of organized labor but as part of a citizens team of men with special knowledges genuinely trying to map out national guidelines.

Man - In - Space Capsule Set To Receive Its Most Severe Test On Crucial Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) A Project Mercury man-in-space capsule is about to receive its most severe test on a crucial flight which it must survive if a U. S. astronaut is to be rocketed into orbit late this year.

The test also is a critical one for the Atlas booster rocket, which exploded on a similar flight last July.

Within a few days, a 110-ton Atlas is scheduled to fling the one-ton space chamber aloft to qualify it under the worst re-entry conditions imaginable.

If all works right, the capsule will hurtle to an altitude of 115 miles, then streak back through the atmosphere on a jolting, superhot trip, landing in the Atlantic 1,400 miles down range.

"The spacecraft will be buffeted, scorched and squeezed aerodynamically as never before, and hopefully never again," the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced Saturday.

"The object is to qualify the design and structure of the capsule under the worst possible re-entry conditions. To do this we have picked flight curves which will duplicate the most severe re-entry path the spacecraft could take after an emergency abort on an orbital flight."

When the Atlas burns out four minutes after launch, the missile will be aimed slightly downward, at a 3 degree angle, compared with a normal re-entry angle of 1½ degrees, thus the Atlas will literally shoot the capsule back toward earth.

The slight change in angle will subject the bell-shaped chamber to these stresses:

—Re-entry heat of 2,000 degrees Fahrenheit on the upper section instead of the normal 1,500 degrees.

—Re-entry airload of 900 pounds per square inch, three times that expected on the manned orbit flight.

—Forces 16 times the pull of gravity, instead of eight times.

An attempt will be made to recover the capsule if it lands as planned some 400 miles northeast of Puerto Rico after an 18-minute flight.

The capsule is like the one which Ham the space chimpanzee successfully rode to an altitude of 156 miles and 414 miles down range on Jan. 31. One of America's seven astronauts is expected to make a similar flight within two or three months.

The Redstone rocket is used for the Ham-type short flights, which are forerunners of the manned orbit trips. But the more powerful Atlas is needed to propel the heavy capsule into orbit.

Space agency scientists have been concerned about the Atlas' ability to do the job since it flunked its only capsule-carrying assignment last July 29. That Atlas exploded 65 seconds after launch.

With The Girl Scouts

The Heritage Hike for leaders to be held on Wednesday, Feb. 22, at 10 a.m. is the big news this week. All leaders are urged to take advantage of the training given so that they can take their troops on similar hikes later. Heritage Hikes are a part of the Birthday Years celebration being observed by all Girl Scouts in the United States from 1960-1963.

Reservations for the hike may still be made by calling the office. A sack lunch will be served at noon at Barnes House on the Illinois College campus, the home of President and Mrs. Vernon Caine.

The hike will begin at the D.A.R. Home on Duncan Place. All those attending the hike are asked to assemble on the porch of the home by 10 a.m. After hiking to various parts of interest in the city and having lunch at Barnes House, the group will go to the Strawn Art Home for a brief talk by Mr. Scott and the showing of a film on state parks and memorials in Illinois. All of this material will be invaluable in helping leaders pan hikes and trips for their girls during the coming spring, summer and fall.

Mrs. Alvahlee McCarthy, a member of the program committee, has arranged a tour to include various points of interest in the city. A description of these places and a short history of their importance will be given to each person taking the hike and additional copies will be available for leaders who were unable to attend. The hike will be over at 2 p.m.

Local Meeting

Important plans for the Jacksonville Neighborhood meeting on Thursday, Feb. 23, at 9:30 a.m. at the Scout office, are being made. Guest speakers for the meeting will be Mrs. Marguerite Hug of IBSS school, who has visited the Girl Scout World Center "Our Chalet" in Switzerland and will tell something of her visit. This is carrying out the theme of International Friendship which the group has been studying. The meeting time was changed to this coming Thursday in order to secure the services of the speaker—the date Thursday, Feb. 23.

Three committees will meet next week: on Monday, Feb. 20 the training committee will meet at 9:30 a.m. at the Scout office. Mrs. Leroy Martin is chairman. The membership-nominating committee will meet on Monday also, at 7 p.m. at the Scout office. Two new members have been elected to this committee, Mrs. John Pine and Mrs. Lyle Davis. Members of the finance committee, Mr. C. A. Hemphill chairman, will meet at 12:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Feb. 21, at Hamilton's for a regular session.

This is still a little early but we are announcing this week another Basic Training course for new leaders because it is such an important opportunity to get help with your troop and we don't want you to miss it. This basic training will be given one day only in Carrollton at the Legion hall there on Wednesday, March 22 from the hours of 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Any leader who has not had this training should make a real effort to come to Carrollton on that day. Trainers will be Mrs. Robert Hartman, Mrs. C. W. Nicholson and Mrs. Edward Anderson.

Troop News

Valentine parties head the news of troops this week with almost every troop having some observance of that special day.

Brownie Troop 86 of Lincoln school, Mrs. Harvey Leake leader, had a valentine party last week at the school. A large heart cake was cut and served as a special feature. A regular meeting preceded the party during which the troop practiced a routine to be given at the P.T.A. program next week. They will stroll to the Children's Marching Song. Mrs. Charles Summers, a guest at a previous meeting, taught them the routine. Mrs. Summers has come to Jacksonville from southern Illinois where she has a Girl Scout troop. Mrs. Orville Wheatley is assistant leader and helped Mrs. Leake with the Valentine party.

Brownie Troop 47 of South Jacksonville school also enjoyed a very successful Valentine party last week at the school. The leaders Mrs. Robert Patterson, Mrs. Ed Hewitt and Mrs. J. C. Pinkerton, helped the girls to arrange a lovely table centered with a Valentine coach. Decorated cup cakes and ice cream and favors added to the festivities. There are 23 girls in the troop. Mrs. Lewis was a guest.

Intermediate troop 96 of Jefferson school had a valentine party at the school during which the leaders, Mrs. Ruth Ronat and Mrs. Bessie Poor, gave the girls Daisy troop crests for valentines. Refreshments of ice cream, jello and cookies were enjoyed. The girls had decorated nut cups and napkins for the occasion.

Investiture

Last Saturday night eighteen girls of Troop 104 of Beardstown were invested and received their pins at a special ceremony at the V.F.W. hall in Beardstown which had been donated for the use of the troop. Parents of the girls were guests. Mrs. Barbara Lawson, leader of the troop, gave a short talk following the candle light ceremony during which each girl gave the Girl Scout promise and 10 girls lit candles and repeated the Girl Scout laws. The song "Whene'er You Make a Promise" by the girls concluded the formal program and a social hour was enjoyed. Mrs. Kitty Sinnock is assistant leader.

They taught the Brownies three songs of other countries as part of a project in International Friendship. At a recent party in the troop, a play was given and international food was served. We want to commend this troop—it is good for an Intermediate troop to entertain a Brownie troop, to let them see what the Intermediate program is all about.

Radio, Silver, Clock Stolen At Farm House

JERSEYVILLE—Burglars broke into the farm house on the Marvin Isringhausen farm west of Jerseyville during Tuesday night or the early hours of Wednesday morning. The family of James Nichols has been moving to the premises during the present week, and the house was without occupants when it was entered by the thieves.

Nichols discovered the burglary when he went there Wednesday morning and found the dwelling had been ransacked. More than 150 pounds of meat had been taken from the deep freeze and a lot of packaged meat had been left thrown about the floor by the thieves who evidently selected the choice cuts for taking away.

In addition to the meat, the burglars took a table model radio, a set of silverware and a set of carving knives, pancake turner, three or four new window blinds, a travel clock, a carton of Pall Mall cigarettes and a number of other miscellaneous items.

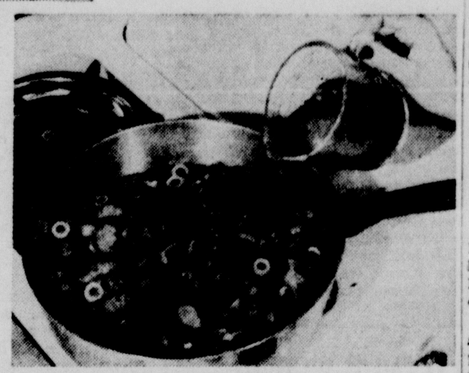
Spaghetti Magnifique

Here's an entree that will really please your guests when it's your turn to hostess an informal or impromptu get-together. It's spaghetti with a sauce made with spicy smoky sausage links. You'll find that true spaghetti enthusiasts will endorse it as a favorite. For the recipe, you'll need 1 pound of smoked sausage links. As pictured, slice the links diagonally into pieces about ½ inch in width. Cook the sausage until lightly browned in 3 tablespoons of lard or drippings along with ½ cup of minced onion, 1 green pepper which has been cut into thin strips and ½ pound of fresh mushrooms. (One small 8-ounce can of canned mushrooms may be substituted for the fresh ones, if desired.) The smoked sausage links featured in this recipe are made from selected cuts of meat which have been finely chopped and mixed with spices. The mixture is stuffed into casings, cooked and subjected to a hardwood smoke.

While the sausage mixture is browning, slice 12 stuffed olives and measure ½ teaspoon garlic salt. In addition, you'll need one 8-ounce can of tomato sauce and one 1 pound 13-ounce can of tomatoes. After the meat and mushroom mixture has browned sufficiently, add the sliced olives, garlic salt, tomato sauce and tomatoes. Allow the spaghetti sauce to simmer 2 hours. The meat does not actually require a 2-hour cooking period . . . instead, it is an opportunity for the ingredients' flavors to blend. This is most important. And wait until you are able to detect the tantalizing aroma of this Smoky Sausage Spaghetti Sauce. Here is an entree that cooks itself. The rest of the menu can be prepared leisurely and there is no further watch which the homemaker must keep . . . either before or after the guests arrive. The sauce will be ready when your guests are ready.



While the other buffet foods are being placed on the table, cook an 8-ounce package of spaghetti in boiling, salted water until tender. Rinse the spaghetti thoroughly and drain. Arrange the spaghetti on a platter, top with the piping hot smoky sausage sauce and presto . . . dinner is served. Don't forget to have the Parmesan cheese available for those guests who desire it. Depending on the appetites of your guests, this recipe will make enough for 4 to 6 servings. However, it can easily be doubled or tripled if you expect a larger crowd. If you're serving a buffet, you'll want to keep the menu simplified. As accompaniments, you might try garlic French bread and a spinach-radish salad. Allow the guests to choose their own dressing for the salad from a variety which you've prepared. For dessert . . . ice cream and chocolate cookies would provide an excellent finish. Don't forget to have plenty of hot coffee ready. Remember, these smoked sausage links can be served for breakfast, lunch or dinner. Try them at any meals.

Top Journalists Talk Shop At School Newspaper Seminar

Some of the middlewest's first-rate journalists treated students from 47 schools and seven states this weekend to a taste of what the American newspaper should be, at MacMurray College's Eighth Annual Newspaper Conference.

It was a weekend of 45 seminars, a banquet, a panel discussion, and special clinics for approximately 260 students from 29 colleges and 18 high schools who came to Jacksonville from points as far off as Emporia, Kansas, Winona, Minnesota, and Wooster, Ohio. They came to hear Richard Amberg, Publisher of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, speak Friday night, highlighting seminars led by newsmen from eight Illinois and Missouri newspapers.

Workshops encompassed news, feature, editorial, and sports writing. The clinic on layout, makeup, and typography was led by three Illinois editors and one Sun-Times Chief Copyreader, who analyzed newspapers of each participating school.

Local Physician Urges Support Of Heart Drive

Dr. Albert Fricke, co-chairman of the Morgan County Heart Drive for 1961, pointed out Saturday the importance of supporting the Heart Fund through business or personal gifts during the month long Heart Fund Drive now in progress.

"Only through the expansion of medical research can the heart diseases, the nation's Number 1 health enemy be brought under control, Dr. Fricke points out." "Research has Number 1 priority in the association's program."

Most heart attack victims now recover and, of those who do, three out of four return to work. The heart and blood vessel diseases are the nation's Number 1 health enemy. The association, which carries on a year-round program of research, education and community service to combat these diseases, is conducting the annual drive for the Heart Fund throughout February.

Disease Forerunner

As a result of medical research, rheumatic fever, a forerunner of rheumatic heart disease, can now be prevented. Through new techniques in surgery, damaged heart valves can be repaired, inborn heart defects can be corrected and diseased arteries can be replaced.

More than 50 million Heart Fund dollars have been channeled into research since 1948 by the American Heart Association and its affiliates and chapters, according to a recent report by the organization.

Doctors urge that you pay special attention to severe sore throats in children. They can lead to rheumatic fever, a forerunner of rheumatic heart disease. But rheumatic fever can be prevented with the prompt use of "strep" killing drugs, according to a Heart Association pamphlet being broadly distributed here by volunteers during the annual Heart Fund Drive.

Caution With Children

"If your child has a bad sore throat," the pamphlet advises, "call your doctor especially if there is difficulty in swallowing, swollen neck glands, high fever, nausea or vomiting."

The American Heart Association, with its affiliates and chapters, is the only national voluntary health agency devoted exclusively to combating the heart and blood vessel diseases.

Strokes are no longer hopeless. Invalidism resulting from strokes now can be reduced or prevented through prompt treatment.

Dr. Fricke and other members of the Heart Fund Drive committee urge you to welcome your Heart Fund volunteer. Enclose your Heart Sunday gift in the envelope she hands you. If you are not at home, she'll leave the envelope. Use it to mail in your gift. Next Sunday, Feb. 26 is Heart Sunday and a volunteer will call at your home. "Help Your Heart Fund help your heart."

Great Britain's Becoming Americanized, Even Prime Ministers Are Half Yankee

By EDDY GILMORE

LONDON (AP)—Two of Britain's last three prime ministers have been half American, which is a subtle pointer to the sweeping Americanization of this nation.

Those sons of American motners —Sir Winston Churchill and the present prime minister, Harold Macmillan—probably would deny it indignantly, but Britain is rapidly becoming the 51st state.

Churchill's mother was New Yorker Jennie Jerome.

Macmillan's mother, Nellie Belles, was born in Indianapolis.

Living in London can be a rare experience for a citizen of the United States, but it's also a little embarrassing to watch the once-proud English embrace, almost with enthusiasm, the modern way of life of a former colony.

There are some things so essentially British, of course, that these 60 million people will cling to them for a long time. The list, however, is not long.

Foremost are the monarchy, Parliament and British justice. And they have their own idea of fair play, love of the underdog, a becoming modesty, the exasperating game of cricket, dry cigars, umbrellas as a part of everyday dress, sherry and men's clubs.

There also are some things so blatlantly American that even the British, in their half-conscious headlong rush to replace their way of living with something from across the Atlantic, may never take on.

They're such things as: automatic shotguns—they're not sporting, old boy; clambakes — they don't have the clams or the mass conviviality; college fraternities—too juvenile, old chap; Western saddles — (What's the matter, afraid you'll fall off?); and crew cuts (I say, this is too much, what?).

Fifty years ago, who would have imagined that London—then the center of one of the world's greatest empires—would one day have over 300 establishments selling hamburgers and hot dogs to the subjects of the monarch?

Or that the Victorian pub on the High Street would give way to a juke box joint where British youth, dressed in blue jeans of the American West, would rock 'n' roll and, between dances, swill themselves with a soft drink originating in Atlanta, Ga.?

Numerous factors have contributed to the Americanization of merrie olde England.

They include: two world wars, vastly quicker communications, almost full employment in a buoyantly British economy, commercial television, the movies and, to a certain extent, the relaxation of imports from the United States.

Take food and drink.

Here are just a few items from the states that have become commonplace staples in the stores of big cities and even in some towns here: American name brands in breakfast foods, salted crackers, beer in cans, coffee — one make is even advertised as "America's favorite coffee" — frozen foods, barbecued chicks, popcorn, cake mixes, salted peanuts, chewing gum and bread, which carries on the wrapper, in letters four inches high, "American loaf."

In addition to the hamburger and hot-dog stands — named "Wimpy" after a character in an American comic strip — U.S.-type diners are sprouting along the British highways.

As to gadgets and appliances, the list is exhaustive. Here are some: washing machines, spin dryers, vacuum cleaners, electric and gas refrigerators, central heating, slot machines, electric toasters, electric shavers, cigarette lighters, home movies, ball-point pens, power mowers, barbecue machines, electric typewriters, and deep freezers.

With bowling alleys, supermarkets, parking meters, department stores, drive-in banks, American cocktail bars in hotels and restaurants, the landscape is assuming a definite state-side look.

Baseball is being played every summer by more and more teams, and a few adventurers have even tried football as played on American gridirons.

Professional wrestling — with all the moaning and groaning — is taking on fast, and the American crooners are about as much of a household word here as they are across the water.

Just say "Elvis," and any British teen-ager knows you mean Presley. The British television screen is saturated with Westerns, comedy series and murder mysteries.

Strangely, Britain has borrowed practically nothing from the American political system.

Of British politics, an American who spent a lot of time here once said: "Like the United States, the British have a two-party system, the difference is that both of theirs are Socialists."

But one day even local politics may change as the United Kingdom physically becomes the 51st state.

There are an estimated 750,000 tobacco farms in the United States.

Copper was the standard of monetary value in ancient Egypt and the early Roman Empire.

Damage Suit Nets $5,000

CARROLLTON—In the case of Mildred Davis vs Joan Borlin Tucker, administrator of the estate of Keith Borlin, deceased and Virginia Geers, which was heard this week by a jury in Greene county circuit court before Judge Clem Smith, the jury found the issue in favor of the plaintiff and against the defendant and gave the plaintiff damages in the amount of $5,000.

The suit was the result of an automobile accident which occurred July 13, 1958 and the plaintiff asking damages in the amount of $30,000.

The earth travels about 19 miles a second on its journey around the sun.

OUT OF THE PAST—Wearing the traditional costume, three little misses venture onto the ice, hand-in-hand, at Staphorst, Holland.

Soil Conservation Projects Numerous In Jersey County

JERSEYVILLE— Work accomplished during 1960 under the direction of the Jersey County Soil Conservation District showed excellent teamwork in getting soil and water conservation projects accomplished. The district chairman is Martin Stahling and the other members of the District board of directors are Albert Kallal, John Surgeon, Earl Richey and Morris Waggoner.

During the past year, 28 erosion control structures were installed. Fifteen of these were of concrete construction and the others were of the earth fill type.

"These structures are necessary to control erosion," stated George Threlkeld, soil conservationist for the local district. "By controlling erosion in this manner at the end of gullies, grass waterways can be shaped and seeded."

Five and five-tenths miles of terraces and diversions were constructed during the year. One-half of these were parallel terraces and constructed with heavy machinery. "Water to grow crops is becoming the limiting factor in yield per acre and terraces keep the water on the field where crops need it," chairman Martin Stahling stated.

The district report also showed 295 acres of contouring; 467 acres seeded to pasture; 16 farm ponds constructed; protection of 12 acres of trees planted.

Other practices included 31 acres of grass waterway, 16 miles of farm tiling, 25 miles of surface drainage ditches and 160 rods of multiflora rose planted.

The latest information on soils, crops, water disposal, wild life management was put together by 19 different cooperators who developed complete conservation plans for their farms. Conservation technicians George Threlkeld and Francis Anderson will provide technical assistance to these farmers.

Church Societies In Meetings At Concord

CONCORD—Mrs. W. A. Martin was hostess to the Ladies Aid Society of the Christian church at her home on Thursday evening.

Mrs. Faye McDermott had devotions reading John 3:14-22, closing with prayer. The secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting and the treasurer gave her report.

Mrs. Ruth Gerdes had the program, reading "Just a little thought" and "Do you belong?" Roll call was answered by six members and one guest reciting a Valentine verse, paying of dues by members present and collection for missions was taken at this time. The meeting was dismissed by reciting the Mizpah.

Mrs. Nellie Newton had charge of the social hour and had two written contests with prizes going to Mrs. Hazel Carter and Mrs. Veryel Brockhouse. She also had an oral quiz which was very interesting. Refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by her daughter, Bernice.

Those attending were Mrs. Ruth Gerdes, Mrs. Hazel Carter, Mrs. Faye McDermott, Mrs. Veryel Brockhouse and Mrs. Nellie Newton.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Inflationary psychology ruled as the stock market resumed its upward march this week.

The renewed advance followed a correction in the prior week, the first time in seven weeks that the averages had declined.

Prominent in the news from Washington was the stressing of need to fight unemployment and the business recession. Determination to beef up defense was also made plain. Both of these broad factors meant only one thing to Wall Street—more federal spending.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 12.00 to 651.67.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 3.50 to 236.20.

Trading was heavy. Volume of 23,021,955 shares was a shade below the previous week's total of 23,272,220.

The week's trading began with a moderate decline under semi-holiday conditions due to observance of Lincoln's Birthday.

The most active issue this week on the American Stock Exchange was Technicolor, up 1½ at 18½ on 212,500 shares.

There were no signs of faltering this week as investors bid corporate bond prices higher five days in a row. The week ended with a string of nine advances still intact.

U.S. government bond prices returned to the plus column by small fractions. Last week Treasury bonds fell slightly to halt a three-week rise.

For the second week utility bonds were the star of the corporate performance. They moved up half a point in the AP average. Industrials, which led the way the previous two weeks, remained unchanged on the AP index. More industrial, utility and high grade investment issues reached their highest price level in nearly two years, capping a seven-week advance. The latest gains ranged from ¼ to ¾ of a point for many bonds.

The second lowest daily volume of 1961 during Monday's semi-holiday session pulled weekly trading on the New York Stock Exchange down to $33,464,500, compared with $35,445,000 the previous week. The daily average fell to $6,692,900 from $7,803,200.

KENNEDY'S FARM PROPOSAL HITS GRAIN PRICES

By GIL MAYO
AP Business News Writer

CHICAGO (AP)—The new feed grain bill sent to Congress by President Kennedy this week reversed the trend of futures prices generally on the Board of Trade, and most contracts posted their second consecutive weekly setbacks.

Soybeans maintained their steady climb, however, and reached new season peaks during the week but failed to hold them through Friday's heavy general selling.

Wheat was little chonged as trade volume dropped off sharply in the absence of any significant trade factors. A good deal of export business was worked and a good potential was carried over, but dealers noted that prices stirred only slightly in response to that demand.

At the end of the week, soybeans were 2¼ to 4 cents a bushel higher, March $2.74½-¾; wheat ¼ higher to ½ lower, March $2.10½; corn 1⅜-2⅛ lower, March $1.13⅝; oats ⅞-1¾ lower, March 63¾-64; rye 1⅜-2 cents lower, March $1.19.

Trade volume generally was considerably lighter than in other recent weeks until the effect of the administration program hit the pits Friday. Most brokers described the recommendations as bullish on the broad boosts in price supports themselves. But they viewed the conditions of eligibility for them as decidedly bearish and pointing in the direction of more price fixing.

They talked particularly about the provision of the bill under which the Department of Agriculture would be free to sell any surplus feed grain on the market at its discretion and of the requirement that such government-owned stocks must be sold within a year of their production.

Under those provisions, they said, the plan would have the effect of being more compulsory upon farmers than voluntary. Only farmers who curtailed acreage by at least 20 per cent would be eligible for the price support of $1.20 a bushel. Thus, producers who do not comply, brokers explained, eventually could be penalized by running into competition with government dumping.

The net advance in soybean prices was among the smaller ones since the climb began more than 2½ months ago. In that time, though, there have been only two small losses and neither of them general.

Interior Minister Of Stanleyville Protected By U.N.

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — The interior minister in the Stanleyville regime that succeeded slain Patrice Lumumba has been taken under U.N. protection to prevent his arrest by power-grabbing rivals, the United Nations reported Saturday.

Frantic maneuvering among Lumumba's lieutenants for his political mantle continue with the issuing of warrants for arrest and counterarrest.

Christopher R. Gbenye, interior minister in Lumumba's short-lived government last year and holder of the same post in the Stanleyville regime, was taken under U.N. guard Friday, along with his wife and secretary of chaotic Kivu Province.

He thereby dodged arrest ordered by the boss of Kivu, Anicet Kashamura.

Kashamura himself had just escaped arrest. Loyal soldiers freed him while he was on the way to Stanleyville under guard, the United Nations said.

The confused picture that emerged from United Nations and diplomatic reports showed the Stanleyville high command in chaos now that Lumumba's unifying influence is gone.

A U.N. spokesman said Communist-backed Antoine Gizenga still seems to be exercising top authority in Stanleyville and surrounding Oriental Province. But Kashamura, now in the Kivu capital of Bukavu, remains an unknown factor.

Kashamura's first act after being freed from troops sent by Gizenga's regime was to order Gbenye's arrest, U.N. officials said. Gbenye apparently was trying to take over the Kivu provincial government.

Another Kivu politician, Bernardin Diaka, reportedly has been arrested and transferred to Stanleyville.

In Oriental, Gen. Victor Lunudula, the Lumumbist army commander, is continuing his efforts to enforce discipline and nonviolence among his troops, the U.N. spokesman said. In a broadcast reported to U.N. headquarters here, Lundula warned: "If any half-wit tries to disobey my orders I will deal with him severely."

India's Rajeshwar Dayal, head of the U.N. Congo force, urged "humane and decent treatment of all detainees." He referred to reports several Lumumbist agitators in Leopoldville have been arrested and transferred to the safe keeping of Lumumba's foe, Albert Kalonji, self-proclaimed ruler of the rich mining state of South Kasai.

Propose African U.N. Troops Take Control In Congo

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y.(AP)- President Kwame Nkrumay of Ghana proposed Saturday that a new all-African U. N. command take over the Congo, disarm all Congolese troops, free political prisoners and convene Parliament, while all foreign diplomats leave the country.

He made the proposal in a cable to Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold. Nkrumah had Hammarskjold circulate the message to the Security Council, which is taking a weekend recess in its Congo debate, and said he would like to come to New York to give his views.

Hammarskjold's advisory committee on the Congo decided to publish an interim report from the U. N. Conciliation Commission in that country recommending that a coalition and federal setup be established on the basis of the present government headed by President Joseph Kasavubu's premier, Joseph Ileo.

Hammarskjold announced earlier that Malaya had agreed to send 800 more troops to the U. N. force in the Congo, thinned lately by withdrawals.

U.N. SHOULD BLOCK INTERFERENCE IN CONGO, U.S. DECIDES

Kennedy took an exactly opposite stand at his news conference Wednesday. He warned the Russions against direct intervention in the Congo outside the United Nations and pledged U.S. support to the U.N. Congo mission. Kennedy also reaffirmed U.S. backing for the regime of President Joseph Kasavubu.

With the two great powers thus squared off over the huge, primitive and mineral-rich land in the heart of Africa, other nations at U.N. headquarters in New York suddenly began to strive harder for a diplomatic solution.

Startling to officials here, it became clear Saturday, was the action of the United Arab Republic in joining Friday with Ceylon and Liberia to propose authorizing the use of force by U.N. troops to bring unruly native armies under control.

The U.A.R. has been regarded as a strong supporter of Soviet efforts to promote the Lumumbist movement. There have been persistent reports that U.A.R. cooperation was effective in delivering some Communist arms to the rebel forces at Stanleyville.

In spite of this background the U.A.R. in effect proposed that—contrary to the Soviet demand for withdrawal — the United Nations troops should be given greatly expanded power.

The U.S. tactic is to consider the proposed use-of-force resolution as a basis for negotiations. What is sought is a new and stronger U.N. policy for the Congo mission. The Soviet Union may have brightened the prospect of general agreement on such a policy by frightening the small nations with threats virtually to wreck the United Nations.

FALSE ALARM

STILLMAN VALLEY, Ill. (AP) —Nine squads of state troopers and deputies converged on the Stillman Valley National Bank Saturday and guarded it for two hours after two housewives supplied a tip that a robbery was planned.

Police said the women were chatting by the telephone when they overheard strange voices on the line, making plans to rob the bank within a half hour.

No bank robbers showed up.

Launch Sky Spy To Test Restart

eral hours to make sure that Discoverer XX, fired Friday, was far out of range.

To newsmen 4,000 feet away, Discoverer XXI appeared little different from earlier rockets in the workhorse series.

Its first stage was the customary medium-range Thor missile. Its 2,100-pound second stage, all destined to go into orbit, was six feet longer than the 19-foot Agena-A used in most previous shots.

There the similarity ended. Tucked inside the collar of the Thor was the restartable engine.

This is why the ability to restart an engine in space is of major significance in satellite development:

Discoverers maintain a horizontal position—necessary for accurate ejection of recoverable capsules—by spurting jets of compressed gas in an opposite direction whenever they start to veer off course or wobble.

There was no indication which way Discoverer XXI was pointed when its engine was restarted Saturday, nor how long the engine was kept burning.

Discoverer XXI's payload included instruments needed to perfect missile detection satellites. These instruments will measure the earth's normal temperature. Upcoming Midas satellites will have infrared "eyes" to detect above-normal flashes of heat such as the firing of an intercontinental missile.

Discoverer XX, launched Friday, carried a capsule to be kept in orbit a record four days before ejection over a recovery area in the Pacific.

Discoverer XXI carries no capsule. Data from its instruments is being radioed back to stations on the ground.

ENGINEERS STRIKE 6 MAJOR AIRLINES

fore Feb. 28 and called for a hearing Feb. 27 on the injunction petition filed by Pan American.

A federal judge in Miami granted a temporary restraining order to Eastern Air Lines and ordered their engineers to return. Several other applications for similar orders were filed by other airlines.

Ron Brown, president of the engineers' union, said in Washington the engineers are conducting a protest walkout against a decision of the Federal Mediation Board Feb. 6.

The board said then the flight engineers would have to join the Air Lines Pilots' Association as one single bargaining unit.

"While the walkout is unauthorized by this international," Brown said, "we cannot say that it comes as a complete surprise."

He said the engineers last week went to Washington to seek "relief through the Congress or the President from this odious board decision."

"The men are outraged by the board's decision, and it has been a constant struggle since Feb. 6 to keep these men on the job," he added.

The stoppage became academic at Idlewild in New York City, the nation's largest international air terminal, when fog closed the airport. All operations were canceled.

Other lines affected by the failure of engineering personnel to report for duty were American, Western, Trans World, Eastern and National.

Meanwhile, Northwest Airlines, where engineers have been on strike since last October, reported no significant developments in its efforts to work out a settlement with union members. The comment came after a meeting of union and carrier representatives in Washington with Robert B. Boyd, of the National Mediation Board.

North Dakota.

The storm forced the cancellation of many sports events in the Midwest.

In much of the area, rain preceded the snow. Sharp temperature drops glazed wet streets and put an ice burden on utility lines. Many telephone and power wires snapped in central and southwest Iowa.

Heavy fog socked in airports in Chicago, Detroit and New York.

A high-altitude overcast of cold air flung south as far as the Gulf states touched off violent weather Friday night, including tornadoes which damaged five Oklahoma communities and raked rural areas of southeast Kansas.

The chilling of warm humid air loosed thunderstorms in Texas and the central Gulf states, with heavy rainfall. Hattiesburg, Miss., had four-foot flash floods in some streets Friday night during a seven-inch rainfall.

In the West, a coastal cold front trailed rain through western Washington, Oregon and northern California. Inland, there was snow across the plateau from the Sierras to the Rockies.

Blueboy Cagers Grab 5th Conference Win From Greenville, 59-55

A barn-burner in the Mound Ave. gym Saturday night saw IC's Blueboys maintain control of their slim lead to defeat Greenville's Panthers, 59-55, and boost their conference record to 5-3.

Trailing 34-31 entering the second half, the Blueboys quickly reduced the 3 point deficit only to have the Panthers even the score at 36-36. The game was tied four times within three minutes until Bill Schildman and Jim Costello hit dual fielders to put the IC five ahead 48-44, with 5:00 remaining in the game.

Panther center Jim Young narrowed the gap with a three point play, but the Blueboys came back with a scoring equalizer to make the tally board read, 51-50. Freshman forward Mike Bandy tipped one in for an IC lead of three points with 00:40 left. Panther forward Fred Reader dropped two charity tosses to pull Greenville within one point.

With less than thirty seconds Bandy, Schildman hit two buckets to boost the IC lead to a five point lead. Still in the game the Panthers drove for a shot only to miss and the ball-hawking W. W. Duncan, freshman forward, snagged the rebound. Costello was given two bonus shots and hit both giving IC the game.

Bonds' Tigers Turn Back Indiana, 59-57

Coach Jim Bonds' Illinois School for the Deaf Tigers ended their 1960-1961 home schedule on a winning note as they eked out a 59-57 win over the Indiana School for the Deaf. The Tigers never trailed in the ball game after the first period, but were tied five times in the second half and could muster only a seven to three point lead throughout. Earl Claussen did an outstanding job for the Tigers as he poured in 26 points, 10 in the fourth period, and 16 the second half.

The Tigers took a 13-8 first period lead and increased it to seven at the half, 28-21. Claussen got 10 points and Poncar 8 as the Tigers outshot the Orioles 44% to 41%, hitting 12 of 27 shots to the Indiana school's 7 of 17.

The Orioles moved to within four points of the Tigers at 32-28, on a pair of free throws by Zarembka, but Bob Poncar got a layup and charity toss for a three point play and another seven point lead. Indiana was not to be denied and came roaring back, Collins and Zarembka leading the attack to tie the contest up at 36-36. The two clubs traded buckets until with thirteen seconds to go in the stanza, Claussen hit a 15 foot jumper to give the Tigers a slim 42-40 lead at the end of three quarters of play.

The final period began on what might have been a very haunting mistake. On the tipoff, the Tigers lost the ball in back court but Jackson made a fine save and threw the ball back into Hammack who in the confusion stuffed the ball through the wrong hoop and gave two points to the Indiana Deaf and tied the game once again, at 42-42. Carlson and Baker each got a two pointer for their clubs and then Claussen went on a scoring rampage. He hit a ten footer, a six footer, a 12 footer, and finished with a pair of charity tosses to score eight straight points and move the Tigers into a 56-48 lead, with 4:50 to go in the game.

Indiana then threw up the full court press and rattled the Bondsmen, somewhat, to collect four field goals while the Tigers were getting only a pair of free throws, one by Hammack and one by Poncar. With 1:13 to play it was 58-56 in favor of ISD and they began to stall. With thirty seconds to go, Jordan saw an opening and broke for the bucket, but was cut off by Kruger and Jordan was called for charging. Kruger had the opportunity to tie the contest, but made the first on the one and one situation and missed the second to keep the Tigers in front by one. ISD stalled once again, quite successfully this time, and with only one second showing on the clock Poncar was fouled. He made the first of two tries and iced win number three for the Illinois Deaf, 59-57.

Claussen finished as high point man for both squads with 26 while Poncar added 16. Zarembka topped the losing visitors with 18, two of these being a gift via Hammack's strange mixup.

West Virginia Beats Pittsburgh

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP) — West Virginia went to its famed backcourt press in the second half to come from behind and surge past arch-rival Pittsburgh 92-84 Saturday night. It was the 18th basketball win in the last 19 games for the Mountaineers, 10th ranked team in the nation.

It was the fifth consecutive game the Mountaineers have used the full-court defensive attack to win after being down through much of the game. Pitt led West Virginia 41-35 at the half.

West Virginia's flashy sophomore, Rod Thorn, played only part of the first half and was far off his game. He was down with a virus attack earlier in the week.

West Virginia pulled even several times during the last half but was unable to shake the Panthers until a tie at 72-72. Then the Mountaineers made a couple of clean steals of the ball and began romping away.

It was a foul-scarred game. Officials called 57 personals, 30 against West Virginia and 27 against Pitt.

West Virginia's Lee Petrone scored 22.

Ben Jinks of the Panthers led his teammates with 18-10 at the foul line.

Cincinnati Routs Tulsa, 81-52

CINCINNATI (AP)—Burly Bob Wiesenhahn with 22 points headed ranked Cincinnati handed Tulsa a squad of sharpshooters as fourth an 81-52 basketball trouncing Saturday night. It kept power in the Bearcat's pursuit of a fourth straight Missouri Valley Conference title.

Cincinnati spruced up defenses after intermission and gained its 14th straight victory of the season, and 9th in 11 conference tries.

The Bearcats need only a victory over North Texas next Saturday to clinch at least a share of the conference crown.

The Bearcats held Tulsa to 7 field goals in the second half and zoomed to an 81-42 lead before coasting to the finish.

After halftime the Golden Hurricane moved no closer than 12 points, and a splurge that gave Cincinnati 19 points to 2 for Tulsa put the lead out of reach. The Bearcats began to substitute freely.

Dave Voss, 6-foot-5 standout, headed a losing cause with 16 points.

Monti Close To Another World Bobsled Crown

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — Eugenio Monti of Italy, the defending champion, was three-tenths of a second closer to another world bobsled grand slam Saturday after two swift rides down the mile-long Olympic chute on his four-man sled.

Monti held the microscopic margin over Stan Benham of Lake Placid, the chief American contender.

Two more heats Sunday will decide the four-man title. Saturday's two descents, which sent five of the daredevils to the hospital in a pair of minor accidents, were delayed more than three hours by failure of the timing mechanism.

After repairs were made, all the contestants and the 10,000 spectators stood silent for a minute, honoring the memory of the 18 U.S. figure skaters killed in Wednesday's plane crash near Brussels, Belgium.

Monti now is Italy's lone hope for the title. The No. 2 sled, piloted by Sergio Zardini, tossed its brakeman bouncing through zig-zag curve and was disqualified for crossing the finish line without a full crew.

The defending champion had identical times of 1 minute, 9.20 seconds and carries an aggregate of 2:18.40 into Sunday's final. Benham has a 2:18.70 total and must catch Monti or watch the Italian add the four-man title to the two-man crown he won here a week ago.

Monti came here as the defending champion in both events. Benham, who taught Monti how to negotiate the tricky Mt. Van Hoevenberg chute, holds the course record of 1:08.88. Saturday his times were 1:09.22 and 1:09.48.

Doser Holds Lead In PGA Seniors Meet

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — Clarence Doser of Gaithersburg, Md., carded a par 72 Saturday for a three-round total of 207 and a two-stroke lead in the 72-hole Professional Golfers Association Seniors Championship.

Little Paul Runyan of La Jolla, Calif., also with a 72, took over the runner-up spot as Buck White of Greenwood, Miss., the first-round leader with a spectacular 63, ballooned to a 78.

The course was lengthened from 6,352 yards to 6,614 yards for Saturday's play, and the pins placed in more difficult positions. A stout breeze added to the difficulty. The result was the older players, not to mention quite a few of the younger group, had their troubles.

Only one player could break 70. Walter Kozak of Convent, N. J., carded a 69, but his previous rounds of 72-77 left him far off the pace with 218.

Chicago Airports Cancel More Than Fifty Flights

CHICAGO (AP)—Air travel at Chicago airports was snarled Saturday night following cancellation of more than 50 flights, most of them involving four-engine piston craft.

The cancellations stemmed from a walkout of flight engineers, which began on the East Coast Friday night and spread quickly across the nation. A large number of engineers are based in Chicago.

Some jet flights were leaving Chicago airports on schedule with supervisory personnel filling in for the absent crewmen. Short haul flights of two-engine planes, which do not carry engineers, provided transportation to Midwest points.

One American jet flight to the West Coast was schedule Saturday night, the spokesman said, because the flight engineer lived in San Francisco. "When we get all the flight engineers home," he said, "That's it."

Some airlines were unaffected by the walkout, bcause their engineers are pilots and are not members of the Flight Engineers International Association.

Rudolph Sets New Dash Record

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Olympic ace Wilma Rudolph set a women's indoor 70-yard dash record Saturday night in the first Mason-Dixon Games and promptly broke it.

Miss Rudolph was timed in 7.9 seconds in a preliminary heat and sped along the boards at Freedom Hall in 7.8 seconds in the finals of this event.

The old mark was :08.2 set 26 years ago by Stella Walsh.

Miss Rudolph spent most of the day en route to Louisville from New York and told officials she was very tired. Because of the airlines strike she didn't arrive until 45 minutes before the games.

In the preliminary heat, Ernestine Polard of Chicago also bettered Miss Walsh's record. She was timed in 8.1 seconds.

Nate Adams, a Purdue University freshman, tied the American indoor 70-yard dash rerord in 7.0 seronds.

Miss Rudolph and Olympian Ralph Boston had to fly from New York to Atlanta before making connections to Louisville.

Last season, the 33-year-old Smith led his team in hitting with a .315 average, ending the season second behind Boston's Pete Runnels in the American League. He was third in the league in RBIs with 72 and hit 12 home runs.

Richards, continuing his steady brand of play, chot a 74 for a three-round total of 224.

Predict Break In Jobless Picture In East St. Louis

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—Officials of the Illinois State Employment Service are predicting a break in the bleak East Side unemployment situation within the next 30 to 60 days.

The prospect is that most laid-off workers should be back at work by May, they said, although no new jobs are forecast.

A total of 2,850 jobless persons are registered with the Granite City office of the service, with unemployment in the area last month more than double that of a year earlier, largely because of steel layoffs. There are about 5,550 unemployed persons in the East St. Louis area.

Lorin Van Horn, manager of the East St. Louis office, said a mild upsurge in employment in the coming months has been indicated by employers in East St. Louis, Canteen, Centreville, Stites and Sugar Loaf townships.

Price, Krulac Turn In Stellar Performances For Highlander Quintet

Ron Price and Larry Krulac starred as the MacMurray College Highlanders, playing one of their best games of the season, earned a decisive 77-60 victory over highly rated Wabash College last night on MacMurray's hardwood.

Wabash's high scoring Charlie Bowerman, who last time out scored 63 points, was held to six points by outstanding defensive efforts by Gary Little and Marv Hohenberger. Before last night's game, Bowerman, leading Indiana small college scorer, was averaging 26.6 points.

The Highlanders took a commanding lead early in the game, scoring fifteen points in the first three and one-half minutes, while allowing Wabash only a single point on a free throw. Wabash, however, sparked by Don Engler's deadly outside shot, edged to within 5 points of the Highlanders at the half, 38-35. Engler hit sixteen points in the frame.

MacMurray took to a ten point lead early in the second half, but again Wabash rallied, and at the 10:44 mark, moved to within four points of the Clansmen, 48-44. The Highlanders regained the initiative, and quickly moved back to a twelve point margin with seven minutes to play.

MacMurray added fifteen points on free throws alone in the last seven minutes, as the now broken Little Giants fought for the ball. The Clansmen took the game by 17 points, their largest margin, 77-60.

Senior Guard Ron Price, playing one of the best games of his MacMurray career, led the Highlanders' scoring with 23 points, followed closely by Larry Krulac with 20. Krulac picked up 19 rebounds for MacMurray, a big factor in the win. Gary Little's fine defensive effort was complimented by seventeen points.

Don Engler was high man for the Little Giants' losing cause, with 21 points, followed by Cumming with 11.

In winning the game, the Highlanders' avenged an earlier two-point defeat at the hands of the Little Giants on the Wabash hardwood. MacMurray now holds a 16-5 record, and Wabash, who last week received a bid to participate in the NCAA post-season small college tournament, has a 13-6 mark.

The Highlanders' next game is against McKendree College, Wednesday night, at home.

Frick Asked To Uphold Action Against Aparicio

MARACAIBO, Venezuela (AP) —Ford Frick, commissioner of baseball, has been asked to support a 3-year suspension from Caribbean play and $1,000 fine levied against shortstop Luis Aparicio of the Chicago White Sox for leaving his Maracaibo team in the inter-American winter series.

Aparicio was penalized Friday by Guillermo Angulo Lopez, president of the Western League, for leaving the Rapinos team of Maracaibo before its final game against Valencia. Valencia won the game, 2-1, and took the inter-American series.

Lopez said he has asked Frick to take the fine out of Aparicio's White Sox salary and has urged that Aparicio also be prevented from playing in Puerto Rico.

The triumph left the Braves in second place with a 7-2 conference record. North Texas State, with a 1-19 record, has yet to win in the MVC.

Bradley grabbed the lead at 18-17 with 12 minutes gone in the first half and never yielded the advantage. It was 51-38 at the half and a romp thereafter. Walker scored 22 points in the first half.

Thomas Unable To Match Leap Of Valery Brumel

NEW YORK (AP)—John Thomas had just missed on his third attempt at 7 feet 2 inches and the big crowd at Madison Square Garden groaned in unison. Valery Brumel, his graceful Russian conqueror, had jumped 7-2 and then did 7-3.

It was a heart-breaking defeat for the 19-year-old Boston University athlete who had hoped to make up for his 1960 Olympic defeat by the Russians in Friday night's New York A.C. track meet.

"He's the greatest," said Thomas, who has cleared 7 feet 58 times only to lose twice in succession to the Russian. He refused to make any excuses, just as he had done in Rome when he finished third behind Russia's Robert Shavlakadze and Brumel.

"I never squabble about a 7-foot jump" said Thomas who holds the official indoor mark of 7-3 and outdoor mark of 7-3¾. Brumel, however, recently jumped 7-4½ in Leningrad.

"I was just as good as I ever was," Thomas continued softly. "Sure, I'm going to keep trying. He's a helluva jumper. My goal is to win. I'd rather win by beating a good competitor than break records. The height itself isn't paramount. I want to beat him or anybody else who can beat me."

Brumel made 7-3 and almost made 7-5.

Dick Tiger Stops Ace Armstrong In 2:11 Of 9th Round

NEW YORK (AP)—Dick Tiger, the British Empire middleweight champion from Nigeria, stopped Gene (Ace) Armstrong of Elizabeth, N.J., in 2:11 of the ninth round in a weird scheduled 10-round fight at Madison Square Garden Soturday night. Tiger weighed 158¾, Armstrong 158½.

Before Referee Ruby Goldstein called it to a halt:

1. Armstrong claimed he was hit by a low blow and jigged halfway around the ring in pain in the sixth.

2. Tiger, annoyed at Armstrong's back pedaling, held his arms out at the end of the seventh and called to his opponent to "Come on in."

3. The crowd hooted, whistled and clapped trying to encourage Armstrong to get off his bicycle, but he wouldn't.

4. Finally, Tiger, knowing he had the fight wrapped up, began jumping up and down on both feet, obviously imitating Armstrong just before the bell in the eighth.

Wildcats Move Ahead On Bone's Tally And Defeat Illinois, 78-72

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Northwestern rallied from an early 10-point deficit and committed only 12 personals to tumble Illinois 78-72 in a Big Ten basketball matinee Saturday.

The Wildcats, paced by Bill Cacciatore's 26 points, overtook the Illini halfway in the second half and moved ahead for keeps at 61-60 on Dave Bone's jumped shot.

Illinois held a 47-39 halftime margin and with 6 minutes to intermission was 10 points ahead, 34-24.

Cacciatore bagged 10 of 11 free throws, as well as 8 field goals. Illinois, although leading in field goals 32 to 30, sunk only 8 of 15 free throws as the Wildcats played a clean defensive game. Only three Wildcat fouls were called in the second half.

The Wildcats, bagging their fourth triumph in 10 Big Ten starts, shot 48.4 per cent from the field against Illinois' 41 per cent. The loss hurt the first-division hopes of the Illini, who now stand 4-4.

Cacciatore and Ralph Wells, who tallied 21 points, demoralized the Illini with their drive-in and jump shots. The pair scored 10 of Northwestern's first 15 field goals. Dave Downey and Bill Burwell led Illinois with 20 points each.

Illinois' high-scoring Jerry Colangelo was held to 6 points, but missed some action because of a gash over an eye.

Highly Regarded Prep Fives Clear Next To Last Hurdles Friday

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Collinsville and other highly-rated Illinois high school basketball teams cleared next-to-last hurdles Friday but some had to scramble.

Centralia, Bridgeport, Pinckneyville, and Springfield pulled clear from hard-pressing opponents.

Sterling failed to make the grade, bowing to Princeton 58-50. Sterling, unbeaten in nine North Central Conference games, could have clinched the crown by beating Princeton.

The Collinsville Kahoks climbed another rung in a spectacularly successful season, whipping Wood River 93-69. It was the next-to-last regularly scheduled game for the Kahoks, who pocketed their seventh Southwestern Conference championship without a league defeat.

Their 22nd victory marked the second time Collinsville pounded Wood River with 90 or more points. In their last four games, the Kahoks have averaged better than 80 points a game.

Centralia's South Seven champions stepped closer to a perfect conference season by stemming a strong West Frankfort tide, 66-61. Centralia, the No. 2 team in the Associated Press poll, has lost only once. Centralia has two more games carded.

Rockford East grasped the Big Eight flag as LaSalle-Peru's strong bid fell short 62-55.

Another once-beaten team averted disaster as Bridgeport, the North Egypt Conference winner, barely outdid Carmi 43-41.

An overtime helped Peoria Manual survive a 77-70 struggle against East Peoria. Peoria Spalding, which upset Manual's Mid-State Eight champs last week, was sunk by Peoria Central, 56-52.

Waukegan had a fairly close call with New Trier, succeeding 47-43.

Bloomington threatened Springfield in a 44-38 duel although the Senators were never behind after the second quarter. Springfield is assured a share of the Big Twelve title.

Clinton pummeled Normal University 102-65, Thornton steamed past Joliet 80-52 and Litchfield drubbed Taylorville 74-48.

In Chicago area games, Crane swatted Harrison 91-51 and Marshall tripled Austin's output, 76-26.

Litchfield sewed up the Mid-State League title by whipping Taylorville 74-48.

Other winners included Farmington 69-61 over Eureka; Flora 66-59 over Mt. Carmel; Springfield Lanphier 59-49 over Quincy Christian Brothers; Danville Schlarman 65-53 over Decatur MacArthur; Bloom 51-49 over Thornridge and Geneva 33-15 over Sycamore.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Marshall Starks of Rockford, Ill., former University of Illinois halfback, has signed his contract with the St. Louis football Cardinals, the club announced Saturday.

De Paul Bows To St. Bonaventure In Stiff Contest

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — St. Bonaventure came from nine points down to turn back De Paul 78-69 Saturday night for their hardest won basketball victory of the season. The Bonnies with Tom Stith out on fouls for the first time in his career, turned the trick in the final two minutes with steals and the old fashioned give-and-go.

The Bonnies, in trouble all the way with their coldest shooting performance of the season, won in heroic fashion in the final 60 seconds on baskets by Orrie Jirele and Bob McCully, and Freddie Crawford's fast break.

The Blue Demons from De Paul gave the Bonnies their worst time since they dropped their only decision of the season to Ohio State seven weeks ago.

M. C. Thompson scored 27 points to lead De Paul.

Stith had 22 points. The third-ranked scorer in the nation, he fouled out with 6:20 to go, his last four personals coming in the space of two minutes.

N. Carolina Overtakes Clemson, 61-55

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—North Carolina's basketball team, well below the form that earned it seventh ranking in the nation, caught up with Clemson in the first minute of the last half Saturday night, and went on to a 61-55 Atlantic Coast Conference victory.

The Tar Heels clinched at least a tie for the regular season ACC lead by bringing their league record 11-2 with one game to go.

The loss was Clemson's 21st in a row to North Carolina, which had mauled the Tigers by 31 points last month.

But Saturday night's game was one of the closest of the long series. The shooting was ragged on both sides as North Carolina hit only 35 per cent of its shots and Clemson a mere 31.

The score was tied five times in the first half before Clemson closed it with a 32-31 lead.

York Larese, with 22 points, and Jim Hudock with 14, were the top North Carolina scorers. Doug Moe had 11 points and collared 16 rebounds for the Tar Heels.

Choppy Patterson, with 19 points, led Clemson.

Indiana Halts Losing String With 98-84 Win

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Indiana broke a three-game Big Ten basketball conference losing streak Saturday, easily taking the measure of eighth place Wisconsin 98-84.

Olympian Walt Bellamy led the Hoosiers with 28 points. But his scoring dominance was seriously challenged in the second half by Wisconsin's new sophomore discovery, Ron Jackson, who pitched in 26 points, all but two of them in the second half.

The victory evened Indiana's conference record at 4-4. Overall the Hoosiers are 11-7, Wisconsin's season record now is 4-14, with only one Big Ten victory.

Bellamy's point production in the first half was limited to two field goals and a free throw by a shifting zone defense employed by the Badgers. Wisconsin coach John Erickson chose to put Ken Siebel, his 6-5 sophomore guard, on Bellamy.

The Hoosiers left the floor at the half with a 41-35 advantage. They came back in the second period to widen the gap and hold a commanding lead the rest of the way.

Great Stretch Run Gives Yorky Widener Handicap

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Calumet Farm's Yorky, in a sizzling stretch drive, caught Main Chance Farm's Never Give In scant yards from the finish line Saturday and won the $125,800 Widener Handicap at Hialeah.

Yorky, 3-5 favorite with his stablemate, On-And-On, raced the mile and a quarter in 2:01 to forge to the front by half a length.

Adele L. Rand's Bourbon Prince was third, seven lengths back, and Gustave Ring's Don Poggio finished fourth in the eight-horse field.

Yorky, with John Sellers in the saddle, paid $3.30, $2.50 and $2.30 across the board.

Never Give In returned $3.60 and $3.30. The show price on Bourbon Prince was $4.70.

The time was just 2-5 of a second slower than the record for the race set last year by Bald Eagle.

Yorky, a bay four-year-old colt, is the son of Bull Lea, speedy Calumet runner who won the Widener in 1939 and then became a great producer on the Calumet Farm near Lexington, Ky.

Yorky did not race in his second year because of illness and injury. He started 11 times as a three-year-old, winning four and finishing second three times and third once to earn $14,175.

He has raced five times this winter, winning three of his races and placing twice.

Mrs. Gene Markey, owner of Calumet Farm, picked up the winner's check of $81,770.

Duke Decisions Middies, 75-73

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Third-ranked Duke squeezed past a fighting Navy team for a 75-73 basketball victory Saturday, ending a two-game losing streak.

The Middies pulled into a 69-68 lead, after trailing almost the entire second half, on Ron Terwilliger's jump shot with 2:12 remaining. The lead changed hands two more times before John Frye put in two foul shots with 12 seconds remaining to make it 74-71 Duke.

Bill Kirvan hit for Navy to close the gap to one point, but Art Heyman, Duke's sensational sophomore, dropped in a free throw with one second remaining to ice the victory.

Duke is now 18-4 for the season, Navy has a 9-9 log.

PATTERSON SPARS

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Floyd Patterson sparred three rounds Saturday and afterward said his timing was off and he was slower than in Friday's workout.

The heavyweight boxing champion said he might put in a little work on his usual days off to smooth out rough edges in his preparation for the March 13 title bout here with Ingemar Johansson.

RECUPERATING BASEBALL FAN NEEDS CHEERING UP

Charles Alfred Eldridge, an avid 13 year-old New York Yankee fan, has been battling an illness for over a year and this would be disheartening to anyone, let alone a youngster, who is a loyal fan to our great national pastime—BASEBALL.

Charles has been in Room 111 at Our Saviour's Hospital since November 21 and prior to that he had been in and out of the hospital twice with the first trip coming a year ago February. Eldridge, who is the son of Mrs. Dora Eldridge, 401 Hardin Ave., had the misfortune to lose his father December 29 and this was a great setback to the lad, who weighed around 80 pounds prior to his illness. But he has been making fine progress the last couple of weeks and has added 11 pounds to bring his weight up to 57 pounds.

Charles tires easily and probably becomes a little annoyed at times with the slow process of restoring health to his once robust body but he has never lost his desire to get well, which according to his doctor, John R. Brazelton, is half the battle. Naturally, a year of confinement for a lad as fond of the outdoor sport as Charles is undoubtedly leaves him depressed and 'blue' at times.

After the Journal Courier learned of Charles' illness through Mrs. Alvin Scott it decided to try and help his plight by appealing to all sports fans to send the Eldridge boy either a get-well card or brief letters which would cheer him up and ease his struggling thoughts of getting back on the road to recovery.

The newspaper sent its sports editor to the hospital for a chat with he lad and the two found they had a lot in common. Both liked football some degree better than they did basketball but both voiced a greater love for baseball. After a hurried conference with Don Painter, a salesman for Bailey and Himes, who produced a baseball, which is being autographed by Stan Spotts above on behalf of the Journal Courier, a red baseball cap, which was the wrong color for a Yankee fan, and a book of major league baseball stars.

The items were just a few compared to the baseball tokens Charles already has received from Roger Maris of the New York Yankees. Maris, who telephoned the ailing lad in January, also has sent an autographed baseball, a bat and a fine glove with the inscription of--To Charles, get well soon and best wishes always, Roger Maris.

When asked what he thought the Yankees needed most, Eldridge replied, "More dependable pitching to go with a solid hitting attack." Charles said he didn't lose any sleep when the Yanks fired manager Casey Stengel but he added, "He was a fine baseball man but too much of a braggart for me to like." Besides voicing his fondness for the New York club Charles also praised Pittsburgh's Pirates and said, "I was glad to see the Bucs win last fall because they hadn't been in the money for some time and besides, they beat my club, remember?"

Charles had hoped to play in one of the local baseball programs last year but didn't feel strong enough and had to settle for watching from the sidelines or viewing the weekend baseball games of the week on television. His main ambition now is to be up and around this summer so that he can 'peg' a few with the neighborhood kids.

Charles is certainly a game youngster and we believe he deserves his turn at bat and you the sports fans can give him his chance by letting him hear from you. Besides possessing a desire to play baseball once again Charles would also like to continue his education as an eighth grader at Jonathan Turner junior high school.

Once again his room number is 111—Our Saviour's hospital.

Two Buckets On Stolen Passes Save Ohio State In 62-61 Win Over Iowa

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Top-ranked Ohio State scored two buckets on stolen passes in the final two minutes Saturday night for a 62-61 decision which saved them from defeat at the hands of Iowa's revamped basketball team.

Ohio State, scoring its 25th straight triumph, never led until Larry Siegfried grabbed an errant Iowa pass and dropped in a layup with 2:06 left for a 60-59 lead.

Reserve Garry Gearhart broke up another Iowa pattern with 1:30 left for an easy bucket which pushed the Buckeyes ahead 62-59. Iowa's Don Nelson — the only regular left after classroom failures sidelined the other Iowa starters—cut the gap to 62-61 with a tip-in with 45 seconds left.

The Hawks missed a chance to make basketball history when Nelson's 12-foot jump-shot hit the rim and bounced away just before the final gun.

The loss was a stunning blow to the Hawkeyes who had beaten Indiana and Wisconsin with their new lineup. They led 34-22 just before the half against the Buckeyes and kept the lead until All-America Jerry Lucas tipped in a shot with 7:40 left to boost Ohio State to a 50-50 tie.

The conquest all but clinched the Big Ten title for Ohio State, which has a 10-0 conference record. The loss was Iowa's second in eight Big Ten games and left the ninth-ranked Hawkeyes with a 14-4 season mark.

Nelson was the game's top scorer with 27 points in a head-to-head duel with Lucas who had 25.

Minnesota Edges Michigan State

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Minnesota overcame an early Michigan State lead and took a 75-72 basketball victory Saturday night in the Big Ten.

The Gophers took a 44-39 halftime lead, and the teams dueled on even terms through most of the second half.

Bob Griggas led the Gophers with 22 points. Dick Hall had 23 for Michigan State.

Minnesota had defeated MSU twice before this season, 83-77 in the Los Angeles Classic and 89-70 at Minneapolis.

The Gophers have a 6-4 Big Ten record and are 8-11 for the season. The Spartans, bottom team in the Big Ten, have one victory in 10 league games. They are 5-15 for the season.

Plum Of Browns Came Into His Own In 1960

NEW YORK (AP) — Milt Plum of the Cleveland Browns came into his own in 1960, winning the passing championship of the National Football League. Final official figures Saturday revealed Plum finished first in three categories and third in three others among the six groupings used to make the over-all ratings.

The former Penn State quarterback, playing his fourth season as a pro, was first in per cent completed, 60.4; average gain, 9.19 yards, and in lowest percentage of interceptions, 2.0. He was third in completions, 151; yards gained, 2,297, and touchdown passes, 21. He lost only five passes to interception, all in the last two games.

Norm Van Brocklin, who led Philadelphia to the championship before retiring to coach the new Minnesota entry, was second in his 12th year as a pro. Johnny Unitas of Baltimore finished third.

Sullivan Nabs Lead In Tucson Open Tourney

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Buddy Sullivan of Yuba City, Calif., took the lead in the $20,000 Tucson Open at the end of 54 holes Saturday with an 11-under-par 199.

Charles Sifford, five-time national Negro champ, was just a stroke behind at 200.

Tommy Bolt, who complained about condition of the greens, was three strokes off the pace at 69.

Gary Player, the leading money winner; Jay Hebert, co-leader after 36 holes; Marty Furgol, Jackie Cupit and Paul McGuire were grouped four strokes off the pace at 203.

Sullivan has put together rounds of 66, 65 and 68 for the par 70, 6,464-yard El Rio Golf and Country Club course. In his 2½ years on the pro circuit he has won very little money.

"I got off to a mighty lucky start by dropping 15-foot putts for birdies on the first two holes," he said. "I ran into trouble with a couple of bogies but my approach on 18 helped make up for them."

A short iron on the 510-yard final hole left him two feet from the hole.

Sifford, like Sullivan, has never won a regulation PGA event. He felt his rounds of 69-66-65 left him in an excellent position for Sunday's final round.

Fresh Platoon Of New Faces Ready To Take Over

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The spring training season that gets into full swing this week finds the 10-club American League preparing for an unprecedented 162-game schedule and the National still operating for one more year on an eight-club 154-game basis.

New clubs at Los Angeles and Washington, plus the shift of the old Washington franchise to Minnesota present a challenge to the expanded American League. Much attention will be focused on the attempts of these new clubs, whose players were culled from the left-overs of the others, to earn a foothold in the league.

Five teams already are hard at work. Early delegations of New York Yankees, St. Louis Cardinals, Detroit Tigers, Baltimore Orioles and Chicago Cubs have been loosening up for several days. They will be joined in the next 10 days by the complete personnel of all 18 big league teams. The first exhibition games are set for March 11.

Mize Would Like To Become A Batting Coach

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Big John Mize, one of the standout sluggers in major league history, is eager to return to baseball as a batting coach but so far he has had little luck.

The former St. Louis Cardinals, New York Giants and Yankee first baseman disclosed Saturday he had applied for a coaching job with the Yankees under Manager Ralph Houk but his application went unanswered. Wally Moses, former American League outfielder, got the job.

"What annoyed me most about it," said Mize, "is that it was Houk that suggested the job to me in the first place. I called him for some World Series tickets and asked if the rumors about him replacing Casey Stengel as manager were correct. He said he felt he had a pretty good chance and asked me if I would be interested in a coaching job with the Yankees if he became manager. I told him I would."

Mize said he bore no grudge against Houk or anyone else in baseball. He owns a 77-acre orange, tangerine and grapefruit farm near Deland, Fla., but his heart is still in baseball. He'd like to join the new National League club in New York where he feels he could be of invaluable aid to the youngsters with batting tips. Although a slugger, John was regarded as one of the smartest hitters in baseball.

Illini Thinlies Win Triangular

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Double victories by Armand Lecrone and Deryck Taylor led Illinois to a triangular track victory over Purdue and Bradley Saturday.

Illinois scored 65½ points, Purdue had 45 and Bradley 17½.

Lecrone won the high jump and high hurdles. Taylor finished first in the 60-yard dash and the low hurdles and placed second in the broad jump.

Other standout performances included Paul Foreman's broad jump of 24-3 and Bill Brown's shot put of 53-3 for Illinois and a :48.3 quarter-mile by Purdue's Dave Mills.

Rinaldi Changes His Mind And Agrees To Fight Archie Moore

ROME (AP) — Giulio Rinaldi, handsome 26-year-old Italian, changed his mind Saturday and agreed to meet Champion Archie Moore of San Diego for the world light-heavyweight title in New York's Madison Square Garden on Saturday, June 10.

Rinaldi, who upset Moore in a non-title bout here four months ago, will receive $25,000. He had held back in an attempt to negotiate a larger purse, but signed the contract brought here by Lew Burston, representing Madison Square Garden.

"I thought I should get more money because so much will be taken out in American income tax," Rinaldi said. "But my manager (Luigi Proietti) convinced me that I shouldn't pass up this chance to fight for the title. I'm sure I will give Moore a good fight and I hope to win."

Rinaldi will have to pay about $3,000 in American taxes. He said he will leave for New York early in May to begin training for the scheduled 15-rounder. He will be accompanied by his manager and a sparring partner, Luigi Napoleoni.

Moore signed for the bout Thursday. The champion who was ordered to sign for a title bout immediately or lose his title recognition in New York State, will get an estimated $40,000 plus a cut of the television money. He was stripped of his crown in National Boxing Association states for failure to defend it in a stipulated time.

Boilermakers Nudge Wolverines, 65-64

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Terry Dischinger carried Purdue from behind in the final 38 seconds Saturday as the Boilermakers defeated Michigan 65-64 in a Big Ten basketball scramble.

Until Dischinger, a star of the U.S. Olympic team, pitched in five straight points, the Wolverines threatened to pull off the biggest upset of the Big Ten campaign. Michigan, victorious only once in conference play and beaten badly in most of its seven games, was leading 62-60 before a cheering home crowd and regional television audience.

Dischinger's last-minute salvo of two baskets and a free throw—enabled Purdue to salvage its eighth conference victory in 10 starts.

He finished with 26 points to lead all scorers.

Purdue's Tim McGinley, who scored 23 points, kept Purdue in the game in the first half when Michigan took the play with a double-team defense on Dischinger. McGinley netted 14 points in the first half, which ended in a 30-30 tie.

Geneva Vikings Appear To Be Little David Outfit To Watch In District Tilts

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Geneva's Vikings appear to be the "Little David" outfit to watch when 248 downstate Illinois high school basketball teams kick off state title competition Monday in 42 district centers.

The "Little Davids", or smaller, sentimentally-favored, schools, open eliminations among 684 downstate teams. District winners will advance a week later to regionals, where the "Goliaths" usually prevail because they are larger schools.

In the succeeding week, the regional champions duel in 16 sectional tournaments.

The climax will come after first round championship play at eight sites, March 14. Quarter final, semifinal and championship games will be held at the University of Illinois for the final two days, March 17-18.

If Geneva can survive its own district meet starting Monday, its Little Seven champions would advance to the Aurora East regional where the host is the top-seeded team.

East Aurora nosed out Geneva's Vikings in December, 70-69. A 6-11 center, Haskell Tison, is the hub of the Vikings, beaten only four times.

Eight '60 Champs To Defend Titles In Big 10 Meet

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Eight 1960 champions will return to defend laurels in the Big Ten Track and Field Championships at Illinois Armory Friday and Saturday, March 3-4.

Paced by dashman Tom Robinson, last year's 60 and 300 titlist, and Ben McRae, defending low hurdle champ, Michigan is a strong favorite to repeat as team champion. The Wolverines amassed 57½ points at Ohio State last year to 45 1/3 for second-place Illinois.

Illinois has been weakened by graduation and ineligibility losses and is not expected to make a bid for a top spot. However, Coach Leo Johnson will have two defending champions — erstwhile football captain Bill Brown in the shot put and track captain Paul Foreman in the broad jump.

The field of eight returning champions, an unusually high number, is completed by Minnesota's David Odegard in the high hurdles, Purdue's Mike Johnson in the pole vault, and Indiana's Reggie Sheppard in the high jump.

Field event preliminiaries will begin at 6:30 p.m. Friday, with track action starting at 7:30 o'clock. On Saturday, finals in the high jump, pole vault, and shot put are at 12:30 p.m., with track action getting underway at 1:30 p.m. and ending at 3:35 o'clock.

With the meet being held at Illinois for the first time since 1958, a capacity crowd is expected. Tickets are on sale now by mail to Athletic Association Ticket Office, 102 Illini Hall, Champaign, Ill. Preliminaries, general admission, $1.00; finals, all seats reserved, $2.00.

Flutterfly 1st In San Felipe

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Flutterby, the favorite, edged out Olden Times in the drive to the wire Saturday and won the $59,200 San Felipe Handicap and emerged the colt to beat in the coming Santa Anita Derby.

Given a rousing ride by Johnny (Grandpa) Longden, the California-bred colt owned by Canada's Alberta Ranches hauled down the $36,700 winner's purse, while Wire Us, a long shot, was third behind Olden Times.

Flutterby, a bay son of the great handicap star of the past, Noor, was never far out of contention. And when Longden gave the word, the colt rolled down the stretch and caught the pace-setting Rex Ellsworth horse, Olden Times.

Robert S. Le Sage's Captain Fair, who had won 10 of his last 11 starts and was third choice this afternoon, was never a factor and finished fifth.

The distance was a mile and one-sixteenth, a new experience for some in this field, and time was a fast 1:42 1-5.

Flutterby paid $7, $4.60 and $3.60. Olden Times returned $5 and $3.80, and the longshot, Wire Us., paid $12.40.

Notre Dame Routs Portland, 80-49

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Notre Dame's basketball Irish snapped a four-game losing streak and crushed the University of Portland from Oregon 80-49 Saturday afternoon.

Bill Garner, Portland's 6-9 junior center, gave the Irish considerable trouble under the boards, but they hit well from around the foul circle—28 of 55 shots. Portland got off 63 shots but connected for only 19 baskets.

Garner was the only Pilot scoring in double figures with 22 points. He missed 9 of 15 free throws.

Four Irish scored 14 or more points, topped by Ed Schurr's 17. He made nine free throws without a miss.

Notre Dame improved its record to 11-12. Portland stands 12-9 going into another road game at Washington of St. Louis Monday.

Day Of Prayer

An offering of $85 was collected, to date, to be used by the Divisions of Home and Foreign Missions, and the National Council of Churches.

For the first time the children participated in an hour long service of their own immediately following the adult hour. At this last service there were 110 children and 40 adults present. The children's offering totaled $20.

The altar table in the church was simply but beautifully decorated in white. A silver cross and two silver chalices were flanked on either side by silver candlesticks holding white tapers. Centred on the table was a white Bible and to one side a lighted world globe symbolizing the peoples of the world taking part in the World Day of Prayer. A rotating spotlight illuminated the altar enhancing the beauty of the scene.

George Day --

Plan Celebration Wednesday, Feb. 22

When George Washington crossed the Delaware the Jacksonville area echoed with Indian love calls. Likewise, the Jacksonville business district will echo again next Wednesday but with the sounds of satisfied shoppers.

Wednesday is the annual "George Day" sales celebration sponsored by Jacksonville Associated Merchants. Each merchant will attempt to have one or two "honestly zanny" bargains to be sold on a first come first served basis. Check the pages of this newspaper for specific details.

Samples?? Sure—used cars that actually run, two of 'em, $22 each. Other merchants will strive to have a 22c item for shoppers at a big reduction.

Merchants will make an all-out effort to provide outstanding bargains for Jacksonville area shoppers. Top bargains will be sold early in the morning in most instances but other regular merchandise will be featured in the George Day sales event.

One of Wednesday's features will be the contest to determine the number of quarters in a display case in the lobby of the Elliott State Bank. Everyone may enter the contest to determine the number of "George Washingtons" in the case. The winner will be announced at 3:45 p.m. in the afternoon at the southeast corner of the Square. Special guessing blanks will appear in the Journal Courier for the convenience of shoppers.

First prize in the contest will be a quarter-pie baked by Fleming Bakery on East State street. The pie is on display in the bakery window. The giant pie contains $50 in quarters in addition to the luscious cherries.

Plan now to arrive in the business district early—stores open at 9 a.m. and the bargains will start moving shortly thereafter.

The club voted to have a chili supper and card party and invite their husbands on Feb. 25 at the grade school.

A nominating committee was appointed for a new panel of officers. It was announced that the Bluffs Junior Woman's Club has been invited and have accepted to be our guests at the March meeting.

At the close of the business meeting Mrs. Bernice Schweer of the program committee introduced Dr. Dunseth of Jacsonville who showed a film on "Open Heart Surgery." This was followed by a question and answer period.

The refreshment committee for March is Mrs. Galen Pool, Mrs. Robert Fricke, Mrs. Junior Dawson, and Mrs. Carl Saladino. At the close of the program, refreshments in keeping with Valentine Day were served by Mrs. David Arnold, Mrs. Joe Newman, and Mrs. Leon Smith.

Editorial Comment

Presidential Inheritance

The American habit of viewing things in a short-time perspective and of always rating any conflict as big news makes it hard to judge sensibly the relations between the President and the Congress.

Right now, for instance, the air is full of sober forecasts of a heavy clash between the lawmakers and President Kennedy over his 1961 legislative program. The predictions are made with the freshness of discovery.

But as Mr. Kennedy himself has pointed out, controversy over a President's program is as inescapable as the dawning day. Your support is truly general only so long as your statements are general. The moment specifics are injected, criticism develops.

Any reading of our governmental history will underscore this reality. Even when a president has had heavy majorities of his own party in Congress, he has had difficulty. The pages of presidential biographies tell of endless battles between the White House and Capitol Hill.

The two forces are, in a very definite sense, natural enemies. The members of Congress are representatives of the people. But except in the emergencies of war and deep economic distress, they incline toward limiting their representation to the narrow interests of their state or district.

The President's "district" is country-wide.

Furthermore, the Constitution has made the executive and the legislature independent branches of government. But the lines between them are indistinct and foggy.

It is inevitable that the two branches should be in more or less continuous combat at these vague meeting points of their authority.

Despite the independence of the two branches, the struggle between them is not exactly equal. The President has many political weapons to use on Congress if he chooses.

This situation, however, does not render the lawmakers supine. It tends only to sharpen the conflict. Cries of "dictator!" are sometimes heard. Even when beaten, the lawmakers often find ways to gain revenge later. The battle is never completely broken off.

Yes, almost surely there will be controversy over whatever specific proposals President Kennedy offers in this or any following year. But let's not greet it as something startlingly new. It is just the natural order of things.

Our People, Our Strength

It is a sign of the strength of this nation when gifted men surrender their lives to service for others when it is within their power to live idle lives of self-indulgence. It is with this thought that we note that Henry Cabot Lodge has agreed to take an active role in the Institute of International Education, furthering the institute's program of meeting the educational needs of countries in Asia, Africa and Latin America.

In Hollywood

TOKYO (AP)—Don't ask why Robert Cummings would be in a Chinese restaurant in the Japanese capital talking about an American TV show. Don't ask; just listen.

Fact is, when Cummings starts talking, you're bound to listen. He speaks with the zeal of an evangelist, which he is.

One of his crusades is bringing joys of food supplements to the unenlightened. He is working here on "My Geisha," and he has most of the company hooked on his pills, which he despenses in green lots.

In between the shark fin soup and fried rice, he chomped on handsful of protein tablets and wheat germ pills and philosophized.

"Imaging," he said. "That's the way you can accomplish anything in life. Once you image what you want—and if it is good for you and other people—all you have to do is start acting as if you already have it. And before long, you will!"

He illustrated with his career. For five years he imaged himself as a British actor and won his start in the theater and films. He now images himself young, and at 50 he looks like a collegiate.

His latest imaging has accomplished the virtually impossible feat of a third bigtime TV series. He did "My Hero," which is still making the re-run rounds in the United States and elsewhere. More importantly, he had a five-year run with "The Bob Cummings Show." Next season, CBS will offer an entirely different series, oddly named "The Bob Cummings Show."

How come? Because Bob imaged it.

"It happened a year ago," he recounted. "One morning it came to me, the kind of a show I wanted to do."

He sent for the boss of a giant agency, who bought the idea immediately. The writers' strike delayed the project for months. But as soon as the pilot film was made, it was snapped up. The story has Bob as a playboy with a home at an airport in Palm Desert, Calif. He's sort of a jet age Paladin, taking on jobs to help out people when he runs out of money.

U.S. Industrial Lag Fits Old Soviet Line

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON—(NEA)— Secretary of State Dean Rusk has thrown a reviving dash of ice water in the faces of those who dream that U. S. relations with Soviet Russia are due for a major change.

"I would hope that we would not be unduly optimistic that relationships (with Russia) have basically changed because of, say, events of the last few weeks," Rusk told his first press conference. "One still has the manifesto of the Communist summit to read. One still has Mr. Khrushchev's Jan. 6 speech to study."

Careful examination of that speech—reporting to the Russian people on the manifesto drawn up by delegates from the Communist parties from 81 countries in Moscow last November—reveal the Russian leader's real intentions toward America.

Here, in translation just made available in this country, are excerpts of Khrushchev's policies, in his own words.

"American Imperialists Lay Claim to the whole world living under their heel and threaten humanity with a rocket and nuclear war . . . .

(But) "For the first time in history, the present balance of power in the world arena enables the socialist camp . . . to pursue the completely realistic task of compelling the imperialists, under threat of the downfall of their system, not to unleash a world war. . . . .

"It is perfectly obvious that the establishment of a world system of socialism . . . undermines the support for capitalism, intensifies its general crisis. . . . This refers both to the entire system of capitalism and to its main power, the United States.

"The Mightiest Power Of Capitalism has found itself most affected by the crisis. . . . . In the postwar period, the United States has experienced three critical production slumps, 1948-49, 1953-54 and 1957-58. . . .

"During the past year, U.S. industrial production increased by only 2 per cent. . . . In the U.S.S.R. production increased 10 per cent in 1960. . . . .

"The richest country of the capitalist world is the country of the largest chronic unemployment.

"A constant feature in the United States is the growing below-capacity operation of industry. . . . At the end of 1960 less than half of the productive capacity of the steel smelting industry was used. . . .

"The U.S share of industrial output of capitalist countries has fallen from 54 per cent in 1950 to 47-48 per cent in 1959.

"The U.S. Share In The Exports of capitalist countries sank from more than 30 per cent in 1946 to 21 per cent in 1953 and to 17.4 per cent in 1959.

"Nevertheless, American monopolists have been and remain the principal usurers and exploiters of the peoples. One is fully justified in concluding that both in the economic field as well as in the field of international politics, the main power of capitalism has entered a phase of growing difficulties and crises—the phase of its decline. . . .

"And it can be said with confidence that the near future will be marked with new successes by the united forces of world socialism, the working class and the national liberation movement.

"Whereas in 1950 the Soviet Union produced less than 30 per cent of the output of the United States, it now produces roughly 60 per cent. . . . By 1965 the U.S.S.R. will outstrip the United States in volume of production and will outstrip the United States in per capita production by 1970.

"The victory of the U.S.S.R. in competition with the United States, the victory of the whole socialist system over the capitalist system, will be the biggest turning point in history."

Some deceptive plays are almost sure to work since there is no way for a defender to read that he is being hoodwinked.

West had a natural spade lead against South's normal three no-trump contract and after the jack is played from dummy East will play the six spot which is his lowest spade.

If South wants to go after everything possible he will play the four and try a club finesse. West will be in the lead with the king and if West is up on his toes West will see that his only hope is to try the heart suit. He will play the ace; East will signal with the nine; and four heart tricks will beat the hand.

If South wants to give himself the best possible play for his contract he will play his king of spades on dummy's jack; go over to dummy with a diamond and try the club finesse.

West will be in with that same king of clubs, but unless West has super vision West will almost surely lead a second spade. Now South will not only get his third spade trick back, but he will also be able to run the diamonds and clubs, and will wind up with four odd.

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy has a double load on his back—and maybe a very subtle third one—in trying to convince Congress that not only action but urgent action is needed to pull the economy out of its spin.

One of his handicaps, obvious from the beginning, is the narrow margin of his election victory. A second is the conservative nature of Congress and its traditional, almost lazy, slow way of doing business except in deep emergency.

The fact that he is now in a position of trying to lead a group of men—the members of Congress—among whom he was just one of many not long ago may without its being realized handicap him in getting what he wants.

At 43 Kennedy looks younger. He always looked younger than his age from the time in 1947 he first came to Congress and one lobbyist addressed him as if he were a boy.

But behind him Kennedy has 14 years in Congress. In that time, however, he was not in a position of leadership except when acting as captain for some piece of legislation or as chairman of a committee.

In the main he was, like the other 436 members of the House and the 99 members of the Senate, just one among many where the voices of some of those around him, the older men, had more weight than his.

Now in a very real sense he is captain of all of them but still, because of the separation of powers between the presidency and Congress, unable to give orders.

His main instruments are the prestige of his office and his powers of persuasion. It would seem natural if some of the older members of Congress would be less receptive to his urgings than if he were closer to their age.

This in the end may be just a minor factor, if it is a factor at all, in the problems he faces with Congress.

His extraordinarily narrow margin of victory in the presidential race, as has been pointed out before, does not carry the same overwhelming persuasiveness a landslide victory would have given him starting out.

But Congress, and this goes for members of both parties, for years has been used to rocking along without any feeling, as Kennedy put it, that time and tide were running against us.

There is a certain provincialism in the House—more, perhaps, than in the Senate—where the members, facing election every two years, are apt to think more in terms of the needs of their own district than the one 100 miles away.

Even though the unemployment figures are climbing toward six million—not a pretty spectacle for a nation competing with world communism—Kennedy has a problem making vivid to a House member from a well-fed district the shattering necessities of people from a depressed, unemployed and hungry area.

During an election campaign the Democrats and Republicans speak and act as if there were profound differences between their political and social philosophies.

These differences tend to blur after the returns are in. For a big part of the Democratic party which talks in liberal terms during a campaign is as conservative as the Republicans. This is particularly true of Southern Democrats.

The result: The dominant force in Congress, no matter which party runs the show, is conservative. And that's what this Congress is. Kennedy's programs so far have been only mildly liberal, mostly middle-road.

Yet, they do call for some changes. But the very definition of conservatism is opposition to change.

So, overcoming conservatism, imposing his leadership at least to the extent of getting action, and convincing Congress his programs are a necessity, even though his election victory was not an overwhelming mandate, are Kennedy's tasks.

Suggests Ways to Make Old Age Really Golden

BY MARIE DAERR

"One ought to enter old age the way one enters the senior year at a university—in exciting anticipation of the summing up and consummation.

"Rich in perspective and experienced in failure, the old person is capable of shedding prejudices and the fever of vested interests.

"He does not see any more in every fellow man a person who stands in his way, and competitiveness may cease to be his way of thinking."

This challenge to consider the later years "an advance, not a retreat" was made by Dr. Abraham J. Heschel in one of the "hit" speeches at the recent White House Conference on Aging. Dr. Heschel is professor of Jewish ethics and mysticism at the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, New York City.

Dr. Heschel criticized Americans for treating old age as if it were a disease.

"The fear of being considered old has become a traumatic obsession," Dr. Heschel said. "Only very few people are endowed with the rare and supreme courage to admit their true age without embarrassment."

What this country needs, Dr. Heschel told conference delegates, is senior universities—universities for the aged "where men should teach the potentially wise, where the purpose of learning is not a career but is learning itself."

"The goal is not to keep the old person busy but to remind him that every moment is an opportunity for greatness," he said. "Inner purification is at least as important as hobbies and recreation. The elimination of residues of bitterness, of jealousies and wrangling, is certainly a goal for which one must strive."

Dr. Heschel believes one of the major ills of old age and one of the roots of the general fear of old age is the fear of time.

"We know what to do with space, but we do not know what to do with time, except to make it subservient to space, or to while it away and kill it," he said. "Time is a perpetual novelty.

"Just to be alive is a blessing. The moment is the marvel. It is in evading it that boredom begins, ending in despair.

"Old age has the vicious tendency of depriving a person of the present. The old person thinks of himself as belonging to the past. But it is precisely the openness to the present that he must strive for."

FINDING THE WAY

Faith and Symbols

By RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.
Written For NEA

The coincidence of anniversary occasions commemorating the lives of Lee, Washington and Lincoln and the remembrance of battles of the Civil War focuses the attentions of all upon the meaning of symbols. Centuries ago the writer of the Books of Ecclesiastes urged, "Let us now praise famous men" and a New Testament writer suggested that we ought to run our race patiently since we are surrounded by so many witnesses of the past.

Vital symbols are the distillation of memory, a code language of honor.

Because of this fact one regrets the flippant remark of a decorator who recently visited the White House and said that he was "just looking the place over."

Perhaps such remarks ought not to be dignified by discussion, but they do represent an all-too-prevalent attitude. If the White House is just a "place," is the flag a rag? What happens to the symbols of a people? If the symbols are gone, life is prosiac and dull.

Symbolism can be stuffy and there have been times in history when the very aloofness of the symbol marked the prelude of a revolution. When royalty lost touch with human beings and human aspirations, the symbol came tumbling down.

History records chapter after chapter of this attempt to isolate the symbol until the emblem becomes a shroud. Yet strip life of all symbolism and you make it as dull as an East Zone Germany.

Years ago Ralph Waldo Emerson wrote, "Every spirit makes its house, but afterwards the house confines the spirit."

It has been a spirit which has built the house called this country; it is a spirit that has expressed itself in the flesh and blood of human beings.

Out of this has come our symbols. A flag, a log cabin, a slim marble monument, a statue of a woman holding a torch over the harbor—such as these evoke memories and communicate ideas.

A nation must have various kinds of power and one of them is the emotional drive that is aroused in the citizen. That motivation does not come alone from the numbering of its citizens, its missiles, or its resources. Nor will a convention of poets do it. It will require that which Robert Frost called a blend of poetry and power.

It is the faith that the values which gave birth to the symbols were not nationalism but a firm moral conviction, that gives significance to the symbols today. St. Paul pleaded, "I beseech you to present your bodies a living sacrifice."

This is no time to be flippant about our symbols; it is a time that requires the expression of a faith which gives new substance to the ancient symbols.

Cheaper Meats Are Best Buy

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Written For NEA

Although supplies of beef will in all probability be slightly larger than last year, grass-fed cattle, rather than grain-fed, will provide most of the expected increase. That means right now your best buys will be in stew meat, hamburger and pot roast.

Even though you may be a veal scallopini enthusiast, skip it for this month at least if your meat budget needs gentle treatment. Veal supplies are low and prices right now are higher.

Eggs are ideal food for Lenten meatless meals. But supplies this month are running smaller than at this time last year. However, eggs are still one of the best protein buys on the market.

Plenty of good potatoes around. In fact, a few more than last year. Just on the market are Quick Cook Potato Slices. The 8-ounce package contains enough slices for 10 servings of potatoes. These slices need only 8 to 10 minutes precooking. Once cooked, the big, home-style slices are ready to serve any way you like. Packaged with an inner foil wrapper to maintain freshness. Have good flavor. Price for 8-ounce package from 37 cents to 41 cents, depending on locality.

A new cake mix has just been added to a famous line. Called Fudge Cocoanut Cake Mix, it combines chocolate with chewy sweet coconut. Each package makes enough for two 8 or 9-inch layers, one 9x9x2-inch square pan, one 13x9x2-inch pan or 30 medium cupcakes. Price about 39 cents a package.

Scott Moves Forward On Conservation Road

Last year Scott County farmers and landowners spent more than half of the 1960 federal assistance budget alloted to the county for permanent soil and water conservation practices.

This compares with as little as 2% in some Illinois counties, said Harold H. Kilver, ASC office manager. He was one of the speakers Monday evening when the Scott County Soil Conservation district held its annual meeting at Winchester Christian church.

Another board member, George R. Peak, was absent when the photograph was made.

Dorsey Kirk of Oblong, Crawford County, was the principal speaker of the evening. He is the master of the Illinois Grange.

Kirk spoke on the interdependence of the many segments that make up our present economy and he especially complimented the Scott district for its continuing zeal toward soil and water conservation.

"There is too much concern over slight surplus of some foods and not enough about soil conservation so our demands for food and fibre may be sustained in the future," he declared.

Farm Adviser Dale Hewitt, at the speaker's right, presided at the annual meeting, which was attended by 150 persns.

SOYBEANS: GOOD TIME TO SELL, SAYS HIERONYMUS

There is little doubt that we will scrape the bottom of the soybean barrel this year. Carry-over will be close to ten million bushels, which is the minimum pipeline supply. The uncertainty has to do with the price at which all of the beans can be used up.

How well the supply can be made to last will depend on the price. It is clear that at $2.00 a bushel there will not be enough to last all season. At some higher price we may price so many users out of the market that there will be too many beans. As this happens we will need to put the price back down to get some customers back in the store.

If crop and carry-over were estimated correctly, the supply is large enough to seed 10 percent more acres, carry-over 10 million bushels, process 400 million for oil and meal, and export 140 million. Last year the crush was 392 million and exports were 142 million. During the first four months of this season, both crush and exports were above year-before levels.

If exports total 140 million bushels, the remaining supply of soybeans will permit a crush of about the same size as last year's. During January-September of last year, soybean meal averaged $54.50 The current price of beans is reflecting a meal price of over $60 a ton. Livestock numbers are moderately larger and should average a bit higher in price than they did last year. At current meal prices customers are probably being lost pretty rapidly; we are likely to lose too many if the price goes above $60 to $62.

Giveaway Responsible

A crush of 400 million will require record exports of fats and oils. The world is basically more abundantly supplied with edible fats and oils than it was last year, when prices were much lower than they are now. Production of such competing oil-bearing materials as peanuts, coconuts and sunflower seed is up sharply from last year. All that is holding the price of oil so strong is the huge giveaway operations of the USDA. Even with the huge USDA programs, we must depend on large sales for dollars. Current prices are probably driving some of this business away.

In the October-December quarter, exports of soybeans were five million bushels above the year before. They were about the same in January. These export sales were made at prices close to year-ago levels. Since then the price has gone up more than 50 cents. Today's price is probably driving European processors away from U.S. soybeans to Africa to buy peanuts.

There is no way to be certain how the various users will react to higher prices, but it appears to me that current prices are more than high enough to ration out the supply.

Spurred By Washington

There is much speculative enthusiasm for soybeans. The general public has bought huge quantities of soybean futures. Their enthusiasm has been fanned by suggestions from Washington about new farm legislation.

When it is necessary to make a major readjustment upward in price to stretch the supply out, as it has been this year, the price usually overshoots its target. One thing seems certain: From some level or other there will be a major decline in soybean prices.

From the Agricultural Letter, Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago commenting on upcoming Farm Programs:

Experience indicates that spectacular new programs should not be expected. Farm programs have been evolutionary in their development, not revolutionary. Current programs consist of a mix of price support, output controls, export subsidies, consumption subsidies and other measures. Any new program is likely to be composed of familiar ingredients but possibly in different proportions than in the past.

FROM THE CORN CRIB!
Quick Thinking

A father and his young son, who was carefully holding on his lap a shoe box punctured with air holes, were seated on a bus. When the bus stopped for a red light the lad was heard to ask, "Daddy, is my kitten a man kitten or a lady kitten?"

"A man kitten," said the father promptly.

"How do you know?" continued the boy.

Every passenger within ear shot waited expectantly for the reply.

"Well," explained the father, "he's got whiskers, hasn't he?"

Machines Score Gains In U.S. Agriculture, Greater Use Expected

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—Manpower is following horsepower in giving way to machinepower in the nation's farms.

Horses have become such an unimportant element in agricultural production that the government has stopped making its annual inventory of the number of work animals in use.

At last count, the number of horses and mules on farms had declined from a peak of more than 25 million head 30 years ago to around three million a year ago.

There has been almost as phenomenal a decline in the use of farm manpower. Latest government reports show farm employment averaged only 7,118,000 in 1960. Twice that many people worked on farms 35 years ago. The decline during the last 10 years was nearly 30 per cent.

Only Four Millions?

Officials figure that if push-button farming continues to advance during the next 10 years as it has during the last decade, farm employment in 1970 may be down to around four million or less.

The advent of the machine age has brought spectacular increases in farm output, and further increases are forecast for the future.

Technological progress is making human labor inefficient. With bigger and better machines, improved production practices, better seeds, more and better fertilizers, and pesticides, it is possible for a single worker to operate many more acres of land than formerly and to care for more livestock.

As a consequence, the number of farms—and hence farmers and family workers—has declined and will continue to decline.

Much More Power

Latest census reports show that 80 per cent of the farms now use tractors. This compared with 63 per cent 10 years ago, 15 per cent 20 years ago and 2 per cent 40 years ago. There are an estimated 5.1 million tractors on farms now compared with 900,000 30 years ago.

There have been similar increases in motor trucks, grain combines and other harvesters, mechanical hay balers, milking machines and other labor-saving devices.

Few Hired Men

As a result, the hired hand is being displaced. More and more farms are able to carry on with family workers. The number of hired hands employed during 1960 averaged only 1.8 million, or less than half a worker per farm. It used to run around 3.3 million a year.

The decline in the number of farms as well as the number of farmers has been reflected in a sharp increase in the size of farms. The last census showed U.S. farms averaged 302.4 acres in 1959. This compares with 242.2 acres in 1954, 174 in 1940, 148 in 1920 and 133.7 in 1880.

District Meeting Of Farm Bureau Held Wednesday

Five men and three women of Morgan County attended an all-day Farm Bureau planning meeting held in Springfield at the Sangamon County Farm Bureau auditorium Wednesday.

Boyce Moore of Jacksonville, IAA board member of District 10, presided. The district is made up of Logan, Mason, Menard, Sangamon, Cass, Morgan and Scott counties.

The morning session was led by Mrs. Florence Thomas, IAA director of women's activities, and was devoted to making plans for the coming year.

Moore led the afternoon period, which was devoted to financing Farm Bureau programs.

Representing Morgan County were Mr. and Mrs. Boyce Moore, Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson, Waverly; Mrs. Russell Osborn, Murrayville; Roy Nickel, Concord; Walter Alhorn, Meredosia, and John Chambers, Jacksonville.

Heavier Ration Produces Best Gains On Lambs

URBANA — The University of Illinois announces that it has completed another lamb-feeding trial testing rations that produce rapid gains.

The ration producing the best gains, an average of .44 pound daily, contained: (1) 64 percent ground corn, (2) 16 percent ground corncobs, (3) 10 percent soybean meal, (4) 5 percent alfalfa meal, and (5) vitamins, minerals, and antibiotics.

Sheep researcher E. E. Hatfield says that the lambs were fed free choice. Feed intake averaged 2.6 pounds daily.

He points out that the 64 percent ground corn and 16 percent ground corncobs are equivalent to the ratio of corn to cob in ground ear corn.

Hatfield adds that lambs received 15 milligrams of antibiotic per pound of feed, or 30 grams per ton. This is twice the level normally included in feeder lamb rations. This probably prevented digestive troubles in lambs put on a full feed immediately without a "warmup."

Hatfield warns lamb feeders to keep alert for "overeating" disease. Lambs receiving highly concentrated rations, such as the one described above, are more susceptible to this disease.

Young Farmers Ob serve National Week

The 43 members of Jacksonville Chapter, Future Farmers of America, have joined in the observance of National F.F.A. Week, which opened in 50 states and Puerto Rico yesterday and will continue through Saturday.

Mayor Robert A. DuBois has proclaimed the period "F.F.A. Week in Jacksonville."

His proclamation noted that "the primary aims of the F.F.A. are 'Learn to Do, Doing to Earn, Earning to Live and Living to Serve'. . . . through this work they are able to develop leadership to serve their community and through research and development to further improve upon the quality of farm products . . . greater benefits will accrue to the entire community."

Which Pork Chop Would You Buy?

Early this month Charley Jones of the Jones Meat Service on Sandusky Road butchered two hogs of the same breed and the same weight.

There was a great difference between the two carcasses as they hung side by side in the cooler. There was even more difference when they were cut up.

The loin eye of the superior animal measured 6.35 square inches. That of the inferior hog measured only 2.5 square inches.

Hog A dressed out a very nice 57.56% of carcass weight in the four lean cuts: ham, loin, butt and picnic. Hog B ended up with only 43.61%.

The excess fat of Hog A when rendered into lard amounted to 12%. Hog B was one-fifth unwanted lard.

What was the relative worth of the two hogs the day they were slaughtered?

Using $18 per hundred pounds live weight as a basis, Charley found that Hog A was really worth $20.29 per hundred, Hog B was actually worth only $15.17. Yet on that same day hog buyers in East St. Louis paid only 50c per hundred pounds more for No. 1 hogs than they did for No. 3 hogs.

Yet the real difference here was $5.12.

This is about the premium paid each year to the fine meat-type hog breeders of Prince Edward Island, Canada, where the sale of hogs on a grade and yield basis really started. Now all Canadian hogs are sold on that basis, with the carcasses being graded in the packing plant. Canadian pork sells well throughout the world, and actually brings a good premium in the middle of the American Corn Belt.

The Prince Edward hog often dresses out 76% in lean meat cuts, with only 1% lard. They produce long hams with practically no trim. On the hoof, they don't look much like our porkers, since they are extremely long-bodied, smooth in the shoulder, leggy and have long heads. But they do cut out more meat with less fat, and that's the object of the game.

Why Raise Better

Many hog producers assert there is no point in raising better hogs. They claim our packers just refuse to pay anywhere near what a superior hog is worth, and point at the 50c premium noted above.

But there is another side of the story, says Harry Russell, U.I. animal scientist who spoke Wednesday in Murrayville at the conclusion of a tour of two hog farms.

Russell asserted it costs no more, and sometimes less, to produce a good, meaty hog than it does to produce one that runs to lard. Often the former gets to market weight earlier.

(Charley says this is true, since Hog A got up to 240 pounds in five and a half months, a month faster than his obese journeyer to the slaughter pen.)

Of Mutual Concern

Russell went on to say that housewives continue to turn up their collective noses at pork, that U.S. per capita consumption has gone away off since World War II and dipped again last year.

Russell reasons this way: Since 40% of the corn raised in Illinois goes to feed hogs, this slack in pork production concerns everybody—farmer, landowner, local merchant, government official, teacher, everybody.

"We have simply lost part of the market for our corn. And we're going to lose more of that market unless we can entice Mrs. America to buy more pork."

To the average reader the following figures may not be as interesting as the so-called "vital statistics" of a beauty queen, but they should be of some interest to a pork producer.

	Hog A	Hog B

PLAN WEED CONTROL CLINIC THURSDAY

Modern practices and the economic benefits of preemergence weed control in corn will be demonstrated at a meeting to be held at Farm Bureau hall Thursday afternoon, beginning at 1:30 p.m.

The clinic is sponsored by a national chemical concern and all farmers are invited to attend. A color motion picture will show new production methods and the results obtained.

CQ Radio Hams

Mystery Of Silent Voices

By Joseph A. Smith

Part 6: Hear The World

When completed, the receiver should be tuned up by a professional repairman with the proper equipment.

What of such medium price receivers as the Knight-Kit R-100? This recevier is not intended as a beginner's first effort by any stretch of the imagination; it is a more difficult task since it is a full-sized commercial type communications receiver intended for the more advanced Radio Amateur or Listener.

As is, it will be a really "Hot" receiver; while it can be further "souped up," for the average fellow it will be all the receiver he will ever need. Again a first rate antenna and ground situation is required for the truly excellent results it should give one.

Now, you say that you would rather purchase a good-used medium priced receiver? Well, there are many ways you can build up a quite useful listening set-up and many types of receivers are available in this price class.

Again, the author shall speak strictly from experience not intending to show particular preference. As an example, let's say one purchased a good-used Hallicrafter's S-40B receiver (costing around $65.) How can it be "Sounded-up?"

Well, first off, the R.F. and both I.F. amplifier tubes can be simply changed for 717-A army-surplus tubes. No circuit changes are necessary; simply pull the old tubes (one 6SG7 and two 6SK7s) out of their appropriate sockets and plug in the 717-As in their place. This will raise the signal level as much as 20 db! An R.F. pre-amplifier might be added ahead of the receiver (a single 6AK5 was used here ahead of an S-40 with fine results); likewise a "Q-Multiplier" or "Q-5er" BC-453/B may be used to sharpen up the I.F. strip or A.F. output.

Then again, a audio type filter could be used after the receiver to help sort out that heavy present day QRM! A "Q-5er" was used here with good results. With such as receiver, the radio amateur normally uses the same antenna for transmitting and receiving.

What of the more expensive receivers? The author shall express no preference since again it is a matter of personal choice, desires, budget, and personal requirements (what the owner wants in his receiver.)

So, be it a two-tuber with plug-in coils (and a pair of triodes) or a medium priced receiver, providing a good antenna and a ground is used, you are in for a lot or around the world listening-in to what goes on 24 hours in each and every day.

Rockets And Space—

'Bullets In Space'

By Walter B. Hendrickson Jr.

One of the most spectacular hazards of space flight is meteors. They are nature's bullets, so to speak, because they can hit an object in space at more than 24,000 miles-per-hour.

You have probably seen large meteors on display in museums or pictures of these meteors. Fortunately, these large meteors are very rare. Most meteors range in size from about a foot down to about .00002 of an inch. The larger a meteor the more rare it is.

A Space Station, or space ship, with about 1,000 square feet of surface (which would be a rather large space vehicle) would be hit by a meteor about .02 inches across every 3½ hours. Of course, these meteors are too small to puncture any space station wall that was strong enough to stand up against the air pressure inside it.

As we mentioned before, these meteors travel at great speeds. This causes them to build up quite a bit of kinetic (potential) energy. This is the kind of energy that makes a foot-ball go sailing through the air when you kick it.

Of course, a .02 inch meteor can't send a 1,000 square foot space station sailing. So its kenetic energy is converted to heat which vaporizes (boils the meteor and about the same amount of the space station's hull.

This wouldn't make a hole in the station's wall, of course, but over a period of time enough .02 inch craters would be made to dull the surface of the station. It would then no longer reflect the sun's rays properly so it would begin to get hot inside. To keep this from happening a space station would have to be polished regularly.

About once every two years and four months a one-eighth inch meteor would hit the space station. This meter would vaporize when it hit the hull of the station—like the .02 type. However, the larger size crater would make a hole in a ⅛th inch thick wall, which would be as thick a wall as the station would need.

A one-eighth inch hole would not cause all the air inside a space vehicle to leak out right away, any more than a nail in a tire causes the tire to blow out. The air would rather leak out slowly. In a space station this lost air could be replaced by fresh brought up from earth, though this would be rather expensive.

If a space ship flying to the Moon or a planet were holed the crew could not get any more air from earth. So space ships will have to have double walls so the outer wall, or meteor bumper, will vaporize the meteors before it punctured the inside wall. A fluid like that used to seal punctures in tires could be placed between the walls of a space ship to plug the holes in the outer wall.

Two years and four months is the average time between hits by a ⅛th. inch meteor. A space vehicle might actually be hit several times in one day and then not be hit again as long as it was in use. So it's wise to provide all space ships stations with meteor bumpers just in case they are hit by a meteor large enought to puncture one wall.

When a space ship leaves the neighborhood of earth it is less likely to be hit by a meteor of any size. This is because earth's gravity pulls in meteors that would pass by unnoticed with out it.

On a trip to the Moon the chanches are about 1 in 10,000 that a space ship will be hit by anything large enough to even puncture its meteor bumper. On a trip to Mars the chance of a space ship being hit by a meteor of ⅛th inch or larger is about 1 in 34. The odds are less on a flight to Mars because it takes 260 days to get to Mars and only two to get to the Moon, using chemical fuels.

Prayer Poems—

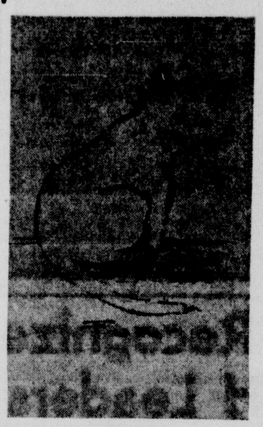
Teardrops Like Freshening Rain

By Mary Pence Claywell

Teardrops are but freshening rain
Upon the garden of the heart . . .
Watering seeds, God planted there
To make them swell and start;
That they might grow and thrive at length
Into great plants of faith and strength;
If all life's skies were fair and blue,
Without the teardrop's moistening dew.
We'd find when life's short race were run,
The heart all withered from the sun;
And all God's precious, fruitful seeds
Would lie beneath the briers and weeds,
O help us, Lord, to reap the gain
When teardrops fall like gentle rain;
And may our hearts drink full and free,
And bear rich fruits, Dead Lord . . . for Thee!

Twirl, Spark And Fun

By Mrs. Otto Dorr



Part 2

"Why do you live in the house?" Spark, now more interested, inquired.

"They brought me indoors when I could not climb," Twirl remembered, "I had hurt my back, but they made a soft nest in a box for me; every night I would creep far into a wooly sock. It was warm there until morning.

"Afterwhile they took me out doors and let me climb a little. Up in one tree, it was safe to play about a knot hole, that made a good shelter.

"When my housekeeper called I came down to ride indoors on her shoulder, but that cat would follow me with its eyes."

"Wow! I wish I had been there," Spark interrupted, "What happened next?"

"When Fun crouched, I could jump to my friend's shoulder and hide back of her ear, close to her hair. She said my claws pricked."

"Did your back hurt?" Spark asked. "It was almost well. One day she took me to the tree I did not come down."

"Fun and I always come when she calls," Spark shook his ears. "Hadn't you learned good manners"

"I look down at her often and chatter, but really I am a tree animal," Twirl explained.

"Come back," Spark invited, "We could all play Hide-and-Seek in the house."

"CHACH! CHACH! CHACH! CHACH! CHACH!" Twirl spiraled higher and higher, "Both you and Fun would be IT at the same-time!!! A tree house for me!"

Let's Go Birding—

New Blackbird Shows Itself

By Emma Mae Leonhard

Although black birds aren't usually the favorite birds in a community, they are necessarily tolerated by us. However, there are several kinds of black birds, some accepted by us with greater willingness than others. Starlings are always with us and really sing to us at times in the coldest sunshine even if we don't appreciate them.

Bronze Grackles and Red-wings leave us in the fall because they don't like our winters here. However, a few stragglers do get caught in our snow storms and look quite bedraggled and grumpy. When the flocks of Starlings descend upon snow-white fields and make a black design like splatter work upon the snow, here and there we may see accents in the black-and-white picture made by the few remaining Bronze Grackles.

One Grackle has remained in my garden all winter, eating with the Cardinals, Mourning Doves, Blue Jays, and Sparrows. Then at the time of our first big snow, two more Grackles appeared. One afternoon I noticed what I supposed was another Grackle, but it looked queer. Its tail was shorter than the Grackle's and longer than the Starling's.

Soon it moved closer to the house and began to work in the leaves covering the flower border. When I focused my binoculars upon it, I noticed that its eye was white. A curious Bronze Grackle joined it in its hunt in the leaf mold. It was then that I observed more satisfactorily the differences between the two black birds: the one with the shorter tail and with the white eye was also somewhat smaller than its companion.

After studying the two carefully, I came to the conclusion that the smaller one was a Brewer's Blackbird, a bird that we don't expect to see at anytime in this section. It can be found in small numbers in the northern part of Illinois, and was found in the St. Louis area this winter by the St. Louis Aubudon Society. We, however, associate it mostly with the West.

The Brewer's Blackbird is a handsome bird, with its glossy black coat shimmering in the sunlight. As it moved around in the leaves, its black coat also displayed reflections of purple, blue, and green—more purple than its common cousin, the Bronze Grackle did. And it was more welcome too.

True Story—

Long-Ago School Girl

By Mary Pence Claywell

Day Begins With Song

I almost forgot to tell you, children, that each morning in the old country schools, the morning exercises consisted mostly of singing.

Of course, without musical accompaniment the singing was perhaps a little off key. . .but who cared. . . every one sang, with the teacher leading, and the singing period was one of the happiest ones of the whole day.

It often had its moments of fun too, when some one's voice started to change, and John, Tom or Jerry . . . whatever the name might be, started off on a low key and then all of a sudden zipped up to a high, squeaky note. Then there were the little ones who couldn't read the words in the books, but they trailed along anyway, getting a word in a little late perhaps . . . sometimes after the others had left it behind, but that was ok, for they finally learned the songs too.

One of the older song books was "Uncle Sam's," (if I remember it exactly) with a yellow back cover, and the thin-backed books were carefully cared for, and greatly treasured, for there were seldom enough to go around, and one was lucky to have one by him or herself during the singing.

Favorites

When the teacher and children had finished shaking the rafters with "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," "My Old Kentucky Home," "Sweet Afton," and very, very often, "My Grandfather's Clock," which all of them loved. Some boy or girl tip-toed up and down the aisles, gathering up the song books.

Then they were placed upon a shelf until next morning, and no one thought of bothering them unless they first had "permission" from the teacher. (Come to think of it, a child always had to get "permission" if he wished to take any extra privileges.

Of course things were very precious then because they were much harder to get.

Morgan County Livestock Men Study Better Ways Of Producing Pork

Some 150 men turned out Wednesday to join a swine buildings tour sponsored by the Morgan County Extension Council. They visited two farms, two vastly different farms, that produce quality hogs in considerable quantity and then adjourned to the Murrayville Legion building where they joined in a general discussion of the problems involved.

Two U.I. specialists accompanied the tour and later discussed salient aspects of their observations, and answered queries on what hog men in other parts of Illinois are doing.

THE FIRST STOP was at the Jackson Feed Mill proving station northeast of Murrayville. Here the LeRoy Jackson, Sr. and Jr., have built a confinement set-up where hogs are raised on concrete from birth to the ride to the slaughter house. It has a rated capacity of 4,000 butcher hogs a year, and is now going at that figure.

The photo shows the visitors gathered in the sow's exercise section of the long farrowing house. The house is the maternity ward for 48 sows every 38 days and while they are there the sows are permitted to leave their individual farrowing "crates" twice a day for a walk and a bit of outside air. But mothers are mothers, and although they are ever eager to get out of their close quarters, they are even more eager to get back to their little ones.

Here the Jacksons, and Kenyon Walker, manager of the plant, told how the building was designed, how it works, its apparent good points, and what changes they'd make if they were able to start all over again.

AFTER DUNKING their boots in a tub of disinfectant, the visitors moved through the farrowing house to inspect the arrangements for the 48 sows and their litters. The mothers have access to clear water at all times, but they are handfed according to their individual needs. The pigs have before them water and all the "starting" ration they desire. Their food is sweetened with molasses to tempt their appetites and they rest and nap in a part of their individual pen that is heated by a hot water coil buried in the concrete.

The two visiting specialists had mixed views on this building.

Don Jedele, farm structures specialist, declared it "a truly insulated building, wonderfully arranged from a labor saving standpoint. There's insulation under the floors, in the walls and in the ceiling. It's insulated even better than we recommend, which is probably all to the good. The 12 vents at the roof peak and the exhaust fans at each end take care of any ventilation problems."

But Harry Russell of the animal science department looked at it with mixed hopes and misgivings.

"Handling a place like this is going to take some fine management; you'll have to be on top of it every minute or it's going to get away from you. If disease ever gets a start, it's going to take some doing to get rid of it," he observed.

WEDNESDAY WAS a bright warm day, and mud was almost king.

This picture shows a section of the feeding set-up of the Jackson installation. There are five concrete lots, each of which drains to a tile at the center. On the north side is the loafing shed, on the south side the giant self-feeders, which are easily loaded by high speed augers.

The weaned pigs go into the east lot, and are moved periodically westward to quarters more adapted to their size. For instance, the apertures on the self feeders are 5 inches wide in the first lot and range larger until they are 8⅝ inches wide in the fifth lot.

WHILE THE VISITORS trudged in the mud, these fine porkers nearly ready for market took everything with ease. They could bask in the sun, if they so desired, or sleep in the shade. They could go for a drink of cool water, or a snack at the self-feeder. Even the visitors didn't bother them.

The concrete floors are cleansed by high-pressure hosings. Water is supplied by a large farm pond and the cleansings flow into a giant septic tank that measures 16 feet wide, 40 feet long and 5 feet, 4 inches deep, with a capacity of 25,500 gallons. Overflow is piped to a lagoon.

THE SECOND STOP was at the Alan Heaton farm southeast of Murrayville, where some 500-600 hogs are raised each year under conditions considerable dissimilar to the Jackson plan.

There sows farrow 10 times per year in a central farrowing house and the pigs are fed out on 10 different lots with portable sheds for shelter. Electric heat lights warm the sleeping quarters for the baby pigs in the central farrowing house. Heaton plans to insulate it "just as soon as I'm able."

He's shown here with a pair of lively week-old grunters. Back of him is a lay-out of the various feed lots, some of which are planted to rye and others to corn. The corn is "hogged down" in the fall.

Filtered water from a farm pond is forced through 2,000 feet of plastic pipe to automatically-controlled fountains in each lot.

THIS PICTURE shows the crowd as it began to leave the farrowing house on the Heaton farm to move to Murrayville Legion Hall for coffee, doughnuts, discussion, questions and answers.

In discussing rations Russell asserted the swine industry is learning much from the research done by broiler producers and that more progress in what and how much to feed a pig at a certain age is sure to be achieved. In answer to a question, he asserted that soybean oil meal is still the best single protein source for either swine or poultry.

Hog raisers who are contemplating building additional portable houses were advised by Jedele "to take a good look at the new plywoods on the market. Modern, outdoor-type plywood is lighter and stronger and, in many cases, cheaper than anything else you can use."

The highly successful tour was arranged by Farm Adviser George Trull and the Extension livestock committee headed by Marvin Martin of Alexander.

Morgan RY Cage Squad In 56-43 Win Over Greene

The Morgan County Rural Youth basketball team returned from Carrollton Tuesday evening elated, and rather surprised, with a 56-43 victory over the Greene County Rural Youth.

Challenged by Greene, the locals got together for a practice session, won, and are now looking around for other games, even to the extent of challenging Adams County.

Norman Dufelmeier was top gunner for the locals, nicking 20 points. Wayne Walters got 17. Alvin Werries 14, and Byron Ommen 5. Richard Lerschner and Melvin Thies concentrated on defense and didn't score.

Roger Foiles with 15, and Larry Walker and Keith Hardwick with 11 apiece, led the Greene county offensive. Marvin Ballard got 6 points; Steve Martin and Gerry Flowers concentrated on defense.

Twenty-two members of the local organization attended the annual Valentine party held Thursday evening at Farm Bureau hall.

The group will next meet on Thursday, March 2. William Fortschneider, J.H.S. vocational agriculture instructor, will speak on "Parliamentary Procedure."

MEMO: TO BUSINESSMEN---

When you remodel-rewire
---IT'S GOOD BUSINESS

Your uses for electric service have probably doubled in the last decade, so the wiring in your building may have been out-of-date for many years. Skimpy, old-fashioned wiring just can't deliver the full power needed for modern lighting, office machines, power tools and air conditioning.

The cheapest time to rewire is when you remodel. So be sure your local electrical contractor is called in right at the start of your remodeling job. His expert recommendations for modern adequate wiring will provide plenty of electric power to help your business prosper and grow.

AN OPEN LETTER FROM
CRIT HANELINE, REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR MAYOR
IN THE PRIMARY ELECTION TUES., FEB. 28, 1961

Dear Voter:

I have lived in Jacksonville since 1912. The Haneline family has been in this county since 1878. My two daughters were born here and educated in our public school system. My wife and I were married here, she died here and is at rest in Diamond Grove Cemetery. My personal life and my interests are wrapped up in this town and it is truly my home. I have operated my own business here as sole owner since 1933.

I served as an alderman from the fourth ward for four years, from May 1949 to May 1953. During this period I was finance chairman and in this capacity I had a part in every operation of the city administration. During this period the city council was unusually busy due to the building boom, the formation of the new zoning ordinance and the building of Mrs. Tucker's plant. The building of this plant took many hours of the council's efforts for more than two years to work out power, water and sewer services, etc. This was well worth while for it is a fine addition to the industry of our city. I had to become a student of municipal government to be able to function properly in my position. For this reason I feel justified in saying that I am qualified to fill the position of mayor.

I know how the city should be operated. How to furnish adequate services and still keep within a reasonable budget. I am aware of the problems our industry has presented to the city and I am aware of the methods necessary for their solution.

As an individual business owner I will not be called on to take a part in negotiations with the city as an employee of industry for power, water and sewer rates which actually constitutes a conflict of interests.

If you feel that my past experience and present ability qualify me for the office of mayor, then mark my name on the Republican ballot on Tuesday, February 28 next.

Sincerely,
Crit Haneline

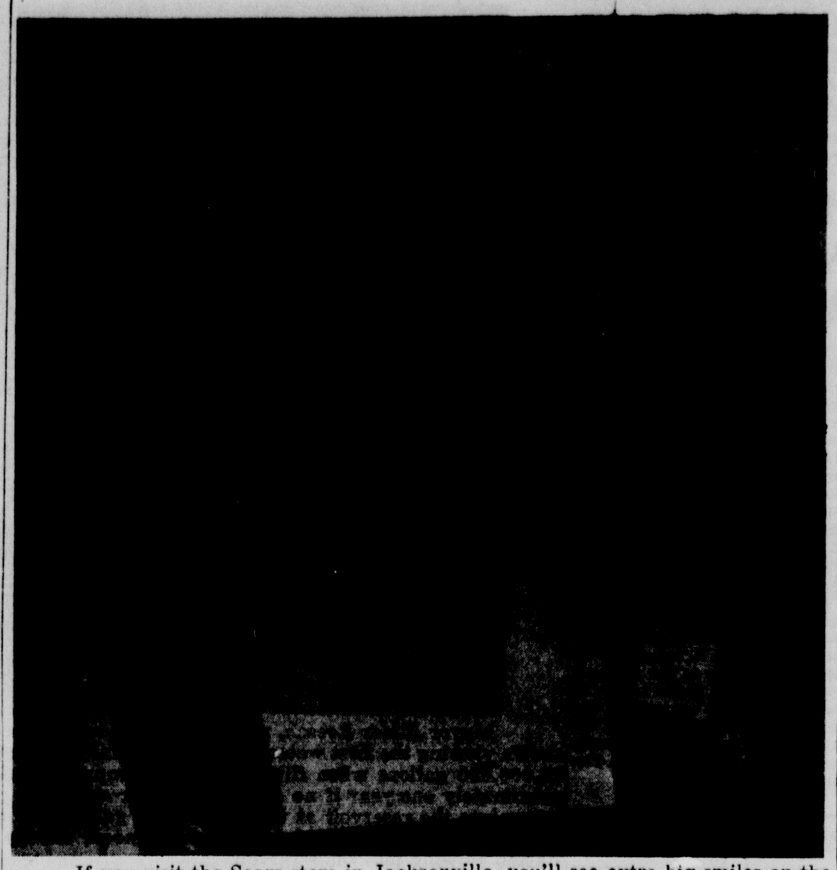
Hear 'Good News' At Sears



If you visit the Sears store in Jacksonville, you'll see extra big smiles on the other side of the counter. And for good reason—the employes as part-owners of the company have just received some good news.

At a store meeting, Manager Tom Spellecy told the employes that they now have a total of $329,135 credited to their accounts in the employes' profit sharing fund.

Fund members were given statements showing how they shared in Sears profits last year, and the value of each member's account which is set aside for eventual retirement. The 40 local members include employes of the retail store, and of Allstate Insurance Companies, a wholly-owned subsidiary operation of Sears.

Spellecy said the holdings of local fund members included 4503 shares of Sears stock and other securities amounting to $79,248 as of December 31, the end of the fund's fiscal year.

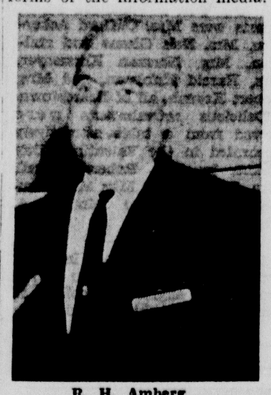
Richard Amberg—

St. Louis Publisher Counsels Journalists

"Doers and not just listeners" was the paraphrased advice to a capacity audience of journalism students from 47 high school and college publications Friday evening by Richard H. Amberg, publisher of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, featured speaker. Mr. Amberg gave the principal address at the eighth annual newspaper conference currently in progress on the MacMurray College campus.

"The rewards of a newspaper career are many . . . it represents a team effort while being a part of a scene, helping to get things done," he said. "We constantly strive to interest more men and women in this business. Too many are attracted to other forms of the information media."



R. H. Amberg

Mr. Amberg gave a vivid analysis of some of the more important crusades carried on by the Globe-Democrat during the past 5½ years under his leadership. He also described some of the defeats met by his newspaper. He translated the interworkings of an alert newspaper organization into terms showing the public good accomplished. His address was aimed at the aspiring journalist preparing himself for a career as well as the many who will become good citizens in other occupations with a knowledge of what makes a newspaper operate.

The banquet program opened with the invocation by Dr. Gordon E. Michalson, president of MacMurray College. Miss Adrienne Wickenden, conference co-chairman, gave the welcome from the students at MacMurray. Dr. Michalson then extended greetings from the college followed by recognition of special guests by David Gibson, conference co-chairman.

Karin Walsh, city editor of the Chicago Sun-Times, acted as master-of-ceremonies for introductions of the assembled newspaper conference faculty. Walsh described the jobs of his co-workers from the viewpoint of the city editor's cage, adding special emphasis to the fact that all were "wits, scholars and pillars in their communities." Walsh's antics in the transition of events at the banquet have dubbed him a favorite of both students and faculty.

All is not play, however, at the annual newspaper conference. The primary purpose of the event is to provide the best available knowledge from the newspaper profession for a two-day seminar designed to help high school and college newspaper staffs produce better publications. The growth of the conference speaks for itself . . . from a single college newspaper staff to delegates from 47 publications of high schools and colleges throughout the midwest.

Each newspaper staff has an opportunity to study all phases of newspaper makeup and all forms of writing plus classes for photographers.

Milburn P. Akers, editor of the Chicago Sun-Times, also on the board of trustees of MacMurray, was one of the organizers of the conference and has assisted with arrangements for the past eight years.

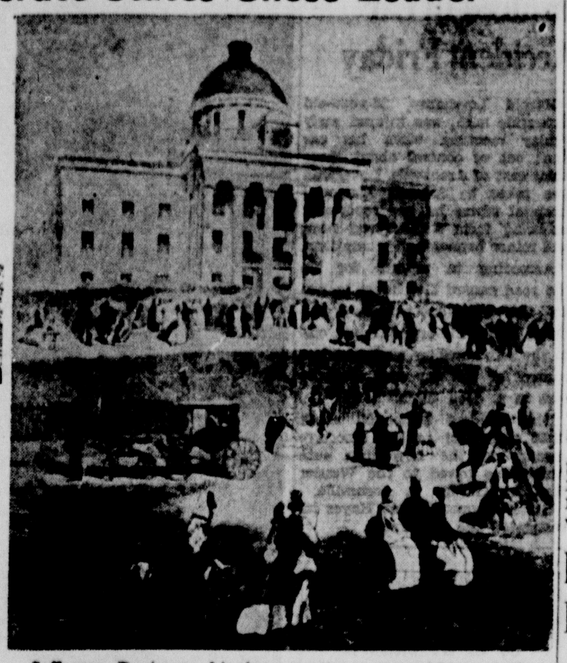
When Confederate States Chose Leader

Jefferson Davis, who was brought up in Mississippi, was primarily a military man. A West Point graduate, Davis initially served in the Army for seven years until a nervous condition forced his retirement in 1831. He later returned to military service and became somewhat of a national hero when his First Mississippi Infantry saved the day at Buena Vista in the Mexican War in 1847. As a statesman, Davis first represented Mississippi as a congressman in 1845, then as a senator in 1847, and later became secretary of war under Franklin Pierce. He re-entered the Senate in 1857 where he stayed until Jan. 21, 1861, when he resigned to take a role in the Confederate States of America. Hoping for a military career in case of war, Davis, to his surprise and regret, was unanimously chosen provisional president of the Confederate States on Feb. 9, 1861.



Jefferson Davis, on his inauguration as president of the Confederate States of America in the state capitol at Montgomery, Ala., on Feb. 18, 1861, said it was "wanton aggression on the part of others that justified the action of the Southern people. We have vainly endeavoured to secure tranquillity and obtain respect for the rights to which we are entitled. As a necessity, not a choice, we resorted to the remedy of separation." Davis formed this concept only after the November, 1860, election was won by the Republican party, which was opposed to extension of slavery into the Territories, and upon consideration of the uncompromising attitude of Republican senators and the unwillingness of President Buchanan to concede the right of a state to leave the Union peaceably. Until then, he had sought compromise solutions.

Arenzville Man Injured In Car Accident Friday

Harold Lovekamp, 25-year-old Arenzville man, was injured early Friday morning when his car went out of control about three miles east of Arenzville. Lovekamp was taken to Schmitt Memorial Hospital where he was reportedly suffering from a fractured nose, and minor bruises and lacerations.

According to reports fog on the road caused Lovekamp to run off the blacktop pavement between Arenzville and Virginia onto the soft shoulder where he lost control of the car and came to rest in a deep ditch.

The accident happened about 12:30 a.m. and caused extensive damage to the Lovekamp auto which was towed to the Wessler Brothers Garage in Arenzville.

State Trooper Robert Hayes investigated the accident.

As I See It

by E. W. BROWN

Things are happening so fast in this modern jet age that it's hard sometimes to keep track of dates, places, and events. That's bad enough in itself, but now even history of the past isn't holding still for long at a time. Now even George Washington's Birthday is causing confusion. As far as most of us have always been concerned, George was born on the day we celebrate . . . February 22. But now scholars are telling us he wasn't . . . that he was really born February 11. The difference in actual and celebrated birthdate comes from the fact that twenty years after George was born, the British Crown ordered that a new calendar, called the Gregorian, be adopted. It added 11 days to the year, so that what was February 11 when George was born, was February 22 twenty years later in 1751. Anyway, whenever it was, 11 or 22, B.C. or A.D., Happy Birthday, George!

In Miami, a minister got a phone call from a thief who swiped the church's tape recorder, then decided to return it after hearing the recorded sermon on repentance on it. Can't ask for a better response than that. Can't ask for anything better in a used car than a good clean late model car that's been thoroughly reconditioned by top mechanics. And this is just the kind of cars you'll find on our lot. And best of all, we are now featuring these sharp, dependable cars at prices below their true values. Come in soon. E. W. Brown, 406 South Main, Phone 5-4333.

99 YEARS OLD FRIDAY—ASHLAND—Mrs. Annie Fisher, born near Berea, Illinois on February 17, 1862, and presently a resident of the Burch Home in Ashland, celebrated her 99th birthday Friday.

A party was given in her honor by several ladies from the Church of Christ in Ashland, Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Fisher is quite active and attributes her longevity to moderate living.

'Musical Valentine' Is Arenzville Club Program

ARENZVILLE— The February meeting of the Woman's Club was held Tuesday evening with Mrs. Harold Kruse in charge. The pledge to the flag was led by Mrs. Fran Hobrock, followed by the Club Prayer in unison. A donation was made to the Salvation Army.

The report of the nominating committee was given by Mrs. Robert Brasell, nominating Mrs. Ralph Clark as president of the Woman's Club for a two-year term. Mrs. Clark was elected, and was asked to stand for recognition.

Mrs. Aldo Hierman reported for the finance and budget committee, stating they stil have candy and nuts, over door hangers, and hanger covers for sale. A Tupperware party was discussed, and the committee will decide about having a party.

For March Of Dimes

Mrs. Willard Peck of the Public Health committee reported $366.81 was collected for the March of Dimes, sponsored by the Woman's Club. It was voted to send two music students to the Music Camp at Western Illinois University, Macomb, in June.

Mrs. John Schroeder was in charge of the program which opened with the song, "Battle Hymn of the Republic," with Mrs. Harold Wessler as accompanist.

Cass Musicians

An enjoyable musical program entitled "A Musical Valentine" was presented by Miss Joyce Theivogt and a group of her instrumental and vocal pupils from Beardstown.

Vocal solos, "I Will Sing a Lullaby," "Drip, Drip, Drop," and "There's a Friend of Little Children" were sung by Jane Ackerman.

Piano solos included "Scherzo" and "Vacation" by Sue Pilger, "The Three Trolls" by Corrine Glesne, and "Moths" by Louise Krouch.

A group including Lynn, Cynthia, and Janis Korsmeyer, Nancy and Linda Kuhlman sang "Itty, Bitty, Buddy" and "Augie Doggie," and the three Korsmeyer girls sang "Two Little Hammers." A girl's trio, Sue Pilger, Pam Massey, and Rita Greathouse sang "Yellow Brick Road," "Over the Rainbow" and "Wouldn't It Be Lovely," and Miss Thievogt accompanied all the vocal numbers.

The Thought for the Day was given by Mrs. Willard Peck. Twenty-nine members answered roll call with a Valentine verse. Guests were Mrs. Clifford Ackerman, Mrs. Nels Glesne and children, Mrs. Norman Korsmeyer, Mrs. Harold Kuhlman, and Mrs. Robert Krouch, all of Beardstown.

Delicious refreshments were served from a table attractively decorated in the Valentine's Day theme, by Mrs. Robert Brasell, Mrs. John Zulauf, Miss Mary Louise Lutkehus, and Mrs. J. A. Shanno.

Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, founded in 1824, is said to be the oldest civil engineering college in the English speaking world.

RAYMOND WATSON

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE for MAYOR

Primary Election Tuesday, February 28

I BELIEVE in active and positive management of the trust imposed by the citizens of Jacksonville in their Mayor.

As Mayor I would maintain regular office hours at city hall.

Better coordination of city departments requires periodic staff meetings with supervisory personnel.

Work for the establishment of a personnel policy that will improve working conditions for city employees that will at the same time improve the services rendered to the people.

Bring up to date the 1908 City Code and in this connection the organization, function and duties of each council committee.

I BELIEVE THESE THINGS CAN BE ACCOMPLISHED BY THE COUNCIL AND THE MAYOR, WORKING IN HARMONY, FOR THE GOOD OF ALL THE CITIZENS.

I WILL DEEPLY APPRECIATE YOUR HELP

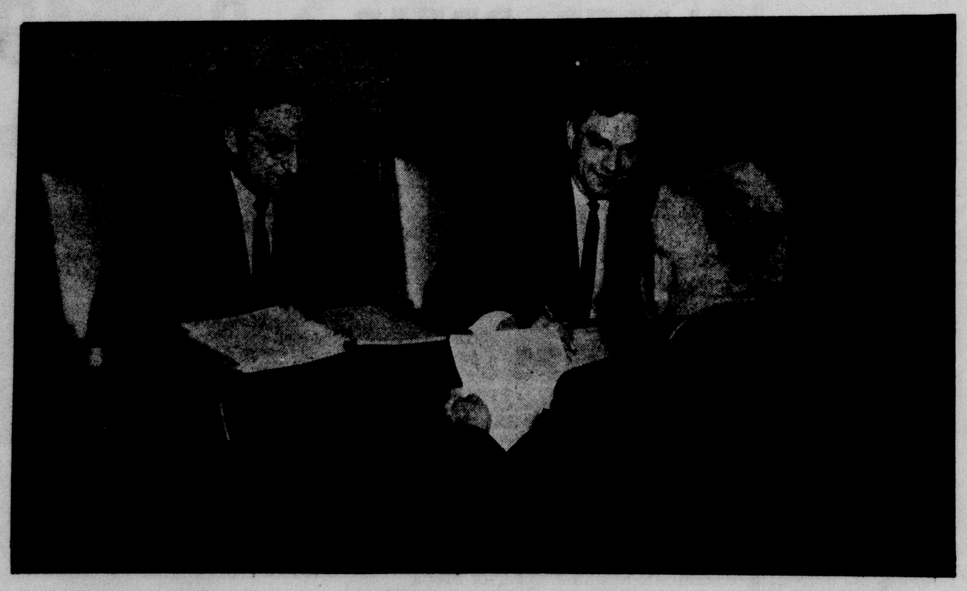
RAYMOND WATSON FOR MAYOR

REPUBLICAN PRIMARY TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 28, 1961

(POL. ADV.)

A Tip From Elliott...

WHERE THERE'S A WILL YOU HAVE YOUR WAY



This meeting in the Trust Department of Elliott State Bank is the start of financial security for a Jacksonville family. Trust Officer James Duewer and Assistant Vice President Gilbert Todd are always available to discuss the financial aspects to be considered when drawing up a will.

"I don't need a will," a man often says, "Everything we have is owned jointly. I just want everything to go to my wife." Many times a man leaves his wife far more than he had in mind . . . needless taxes, endless red tape and unnecessary delay in settling the estate. Everyone who cares for his family needs a will, professionally and expertly drawn by an attorney. When there is a will, you know your wishes will be carried out . . . that your estate will be passed on just as you wish it. Make sure of your family's future. See your lawyer for legal and tax counseling and Elliott State Bank for helpful financial advice when planning your estate. We look forward to being of service.

BROGLIO'S ON TAPE

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Ernie Broglio, St. Louis Cardinals right-hander, told a crowd of 1,050 at a baseball writers banquet he had rehearsed his speech for hours and had it tape recorded at teammate Joe Cunningham's place.

"I decided against using it," Broglio said with a laugh, "but if you want to hear it, you can go over to Joe's apartment."

Fortunately, for Joe, there were no takers.

Rockets, Highlanders Notch Easy Wins; Crimsons Lose

Rockets End Regular Season With 76-52 Win Over Farmersville

By STAN SPOTTS

Fred Curtis tossed in 17 of his 28 points in the first half and Jack Lawless accounted for 17 of his 25 tallies in the second half to lead Coach Bob Winstead's Routt Rockets to an easy 76-52 victory over Farmersville in the JHS Bowl before a small turnout Friday night.

The Rockets, who notched their 20th verdict in 25 starts, also closed their regular season and won't see action again until they bump into Waverly in the JHS Regional 10 days from now.

The defeat for Norm Keefner's Panthers left them all even for the season at 10 wins against 10 setbacks. They were never in the running after Routt broke the game wide open with less than two minutes to play before halftime. Farmersville had pulled to within three points of the lead with 1:56 remaining in the second quarter, 27-24, but the Rockets came out of their 1-3-1 zone and used a full court press to open up an 11-point lead at halftime, 36-25.

Routt trailed once from the outset as the Panthers behind Paul Weigert came up to take a 9-7 lead but Ed Carroll, who got into foul trouble early in the first half, evened the score at 9-all for the third tie in the game with 1:08 remaining. A driving layup by Fred Curtis and two free throws by the game's leading scorer all within 17 seconds gave Routt the lead it never relinquished although two successive buckets by Weigert in the closing 22 seconds pulled the Panthers within one point after eight minutes of play, 14-13.

Deciding Quarter

Fred Curtis, who went over the 1500 scoring mark in his four-year tenure, led the opening assault in the second quarter with three points and Joe Cors and Jack Lawless chipped in with a bucket apiece to open up a seven point margin in the first minute of play, 24-14. Farmersville came as close as five points to the lead but it looked as though Routt might stay out of rouble with Lawless and Curtis clicking from the outside. But Weigert, who played a high post, garnered two quick layups and the Panthers were down by three, 27-24. This brought on Routt's full court press and Farmersville couldn't handle the switch in defensive tactics.

Everything went for the Rockets as they gradually pulled away. The only thing that went against them was Ed Carroll picking up his fourth personal with 39 seconds left to play before halftime but Routt had a nine point lead when he went out and an 11-point spread at the halfway point, 36-25.

The Rockets stuck with the press to open the third frame and it paid off. They held Farmersville to a pair of field goals and in six minutes of play built up a comfortable 53-31 lead. Routt picked up only two tallies in the remaining two minutes but still held a 21-point advantage after three quarters, 55-34. Lawless tossed in 11 points in the third frame as he and the Rockets pulled off many a fast break.

Curtis brought his season total to 493 points with his 28-point production. He hit 17 points the firs half, 10 of which came in the second quarter, and 11 the second half to give him a four-year total of 1,516 points which averages out to 14 points a game for a four-year span.

Lawless also enjoyed another fine evening on the hardcourt and he shared second place scoring laurels with Paul Weigert of the losers, each with 25 markers. Weigert hit 14 the first half and after collecting a single point the third stanza he came back strong to score 10 the final chapter.

WHITE HALL—The White Hall Maroons almost pulled off the upset of the year as they bowed to the powerful Winchester Wildcats, 38-37. Winchester, winners of the Illinois Valley Conference for this year, had fallen victims to the Maroons' slow, stalling tactics, and were tied 33-33 with a minute and a half to play. Bill Brockhouse hit his second bucket of the evening and was fouled for a three point play and the turning point in the contest. The Wildcats thus preserved their perfect, 7-0 mark in conference action.

Russ Gregory collected 12 points to lead the winners and Eddie Dolen added 10. Sam Campbell topped White Hall with 13.

New Faces Among Chicago Cubs

By CHARLEY GRIMM

CHICAGO (AP) — I guess I can give as good a rundown on the Cubs as anyone. After all, I was their manager at three different times and now I'm one of the eight men on the board of coaches.

The Cubs, as you know, will have no manager this season, but there will be a head coach. Four of us will serve with the Cubs and the other four will spend most of the time with our four clubs. A lot of people are wondering how this is going to work out. But let's give it a chance.

Maybe the names of the young guys I'll tell you about mean nothing now, but you'll be hearing a lot about some of them this year.

Billy Williams, Jack Curtis, Cuno Barragan, Dick Bertell, Wayne Carlender, Danny Murphy and Nelson Mathews are the newcomers. I had a few of them with me this winter when I managed our club in the Arizona League.

Williams and Curtis are almost certain to start the season with the Cubs. Billy hit 26 home runs and batted .323 in the American Association last year. Curtis won 19 games in the Texas League.

Barragan and Bertell are catchers. Barragan hit about .320 in the Pacific Coast League. Carlender, another left pitcher, and Murphy and Mathews, both outfielders, may be a year away.

There's no problem at shortstop with Ernie Banks, or at third base, with Don Santo. At second, it'll probably be a dogfight among Don Zimmer, Jerry Kindall and Jim McKnight. We're well fixed at first base with Frank Thomas, Ed Bouchee and George Altman.

Our other outfielder regulars figure to be Richie Ashburn and Bob Will. If at least one or two rookies come through, our pitching will be in good shape. Glen Hobbie, Dick Drott, Jim Brewer, Dick Ellsworth, Don Elston and Joe Schaffernoth gives us the makings of an excellent staff.

Willie Naulls of the New York Knickerbockers is UCLA's top basketball scorer in history with 1,225 points. He made 661 as a senior.

Downstate Prep Notes

By JOHN CAMPBELL

Coach Ron Harris of Edwardsville high had two star players on crutches last week in losing to powerful Collinsville 89-53. Tony Penelton and Leonard Drda watched the game from the Tiger bench, one had suffered a sprained ankle and the other had sustained a broke- ankle. Ken Connors played his best game for Edwardsville with 30 points while Collinsville's high scorers were Fred Riddle and Bogie Redmon with 23 points each.

Fred Riddle scored 38 points for Collinsville in the 83-70 win over Alton's Redbirds and it was the biggest single point total of all Kahoks this season. Riddle and Bogie Redmon each grabbed 11 rebounds of Collinsville's 42 against Alton high. Each club had 31 fouls with Collinsville having five players with four fouls at the end of the game and Alton had four men with four fouls. Each team lost one man by fouls and Collinsville's Bob Basola was out the third period with a technical.

Pittsfield high basketball teams have played 25 sectional tourney games and lost to Monmouth 58-48 in the finals last year. It marked the first time in 11 years for the Saukees to play in the title game of a sectional meet as Coach Glenn Smith's strong team of 1949 beat Quincy's Blue Devils in Pittsfield's sectional tourney. Pittsfield sectional tourney opponents were Watseka, Springfield, Pekin, Jerseyville, Quincy, Payson, Beardstown, White Hall, Bluffs, Milton, Hamilton, Virginia, Camp Point, Cathedral, Routt, Chambersburg, Jacksonville and Monmouth.

White Hall high cage teams played 11 sectional tourney games, the last in 1945 in losing to Dallas City 47-21. The Greene County high school squads played in 13 regional championship games and last year the Maroons lost to Jerseyville 73-55 in the title game at White Hall's gym. White Hall opponents in Sectional competition were Quincy, Beardstown, Litchfield (2), Clayton, Nebo, Rushville, Pittsfield, Marissa, Collinsville and Dallas City.

Griggsville's Tornadoes have competed in five sectional tourney games and played in seven regional championship affairs. In 1928 the Griggsville team went to Champaign and won fourth place in the State tourney. Gil Love, coach at Ottawa high, played forward for Coach Ross Nichol's powerful team. Sectional opponents of Griggsville included Mt. Pulaski, Quincy (2), Chandlerville and Jerseyville. Regional finals opponents of the Tornadoes were Pleasant Hill (3), Chambersburg and Pittsfield (3).

Greenfield's Tigers have played in two sectional tourney games losing to East St. Louis 37-19 in 1931 and bowing to Highland in 1953 by 76-55. The Tigers played in four regional championship games playing White Hall, Roodhouse, Carrollton and Hardin. Carrollton's Hawks competed in two sectional tourneys and played in ten regional title games. Regional opponents were Chesterfield, Greenfield, Roodhouse (2) and Jerseyville (6). Perry and Belleville won over the Hawks in the Sectional competition.

Martin Chilovich is in his fifth year as coach at Mason City high and needs only two more wins to hit the 100 mark. His clubs have lost 34 at the Mason County high school. He succeeded Joe Adam, present Canton high mentor, after coaching two years at Allerton-Broadlands-Longview high school. Other Mason City high cage coaches were Leroy Halberg, Vernon Corbin and Joe Adam. The "Huskies" lost to Springfield's State champs two years ago in the Sectional meet by five points.

In 1956 Coach Adam took his powerful team from Mason City and lost to a strong Lanphier high team of Springfield in the finals of the Jacksonville sectional meet.

Ingo's Denials Head Off Formal Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP)— Ingemar Johansson's denials that he was drugged the night he lost the heavyweight boxing championship to Floyd Patterson apparently has headed off a formal Senate investigation of the story.

John G. Bonomi, counsel to the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee, told a reporter that "as of now we don't contemplate any hearings."

Bonomi had asked the Florida state attorney general's office to interview Johansson because of periodically published reports that the Swedish fighter believed he might have been drugged and other published reports that Johansson denied he had been doped. The bout in question took place last June, when Patterson regained by a knockout the crown he had lost by the same process to Johansson a year earlier.

"We wanted to ascertain whether there was any substance to the report, whether it was a publicity gimmick, or just what was involved, and we wanted to know the answers right away," Bonomi explained.

Johansson gave an answer Thursday at Palm Beach, Fla., where he is training for his third title match with Patterson, set for March 13 at Miami Beach.

"A thousand times I have denied it," he said. "It never has been my theory that I was doped."

Patterson Works For Spectators

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Heavyweight Champion Floyd Patterson hammered on two sparmates and a punching bag Friday before 500 paying spectators at his first Florida workout.

After the five rounds and exercises, Patterson cautioned against relying too much on his workouts as an index to how he'll do against Ingemar Johansson who seeks to dethrone him here March 13.

"I looked sharp in workouts before the first Johansson fight, and look what happened," Patterson said wryly. Ingo knocked him out in the fifth.

RINALDI BALKS

Rinaldi's unexpected stand came within hours after two officials of Madison Square Garden in New York arrived here to conclude arrangements for the bout, tentatively set for June 10.

The Italian's manager, Luigi Proietti, quoted Rinaldi as saying: "They offered me $25,000. But then I will have to slice away a portion for the American tax collector, and I do not know what will actually be left for me."

The manager said he hoped to get Rinaldi to sign the contract by Saturday.

NAMED HOST FIVE

CHICAGO (AP)— The University of Chicago Friday had its basketball team assigned to the NCAA's small college Great Lakes regional tourney and was named host for the March 10-11 meet.

Other regional sites named are South Central at Austin Peay, Clarksville, Tenn., Mideast at Wabash College, Crawfordsville, Ind., and Southwest at Southeast Missouri State, Cape Girardeau, Mo. Four other sites will be picked Wednesday.

The Eries were the only tribe of Indians in Ohio when the white man first came to the region.

Crimsons Unable To Find Hoop 1st Half, Lose To Flyers, 67-57

SPRINGFIELD — The Feitshans Flyers put the "magic-hex" on the Jacksonville High School bucket during the first half of play, and held off the onrushing Crimsons in the second half to gain a 67-57 decision. Coach John Chapman's Crimsons could not find the range, whatever, and made only four field goals in the first sixteen minutes of action while missing twenty eight shots for a dismal 12%. Feitshans was not extremely deadly, but collected 12 of 24 for 50% and a tell-tale 33-16 lead at halftime.

First Half

Bill Sims scored the first field goal of the game for Jacksonville, but it was almost four minutes later before the Crimsons were to get another. Rich Haves and Al Johnson sank a charity toss each to tie the contest at 2-2 and then the Flyers began their picnic. Hayes got five straight points and Pierce wo before Chip Baldwin hit a 20 footer for the Jacks and a 9-4 deficit. The Crimsons' attack then died again and Feitshans got five more markers for a 14-4 first period lead. The Crimsons made only 2 of 19 attempts and had strings of nine straight misses and then seven more in a row. The Flyers hit four of ten for a fine 40%.

Coach John Chapman shuffled his lineup to open the second period. Sweeney and Stanford entering the game for Norton and Sims, but this was not the solution either. Jacksonville still couldn't hit from the field and made seven free throws in the first four minutes of the second frame to stay within ten points of the Flyers. Rich Sweeney got the first basket of the period, for Jacksonville, to pull the Crimsons to within nine, 22-13 with a little less than four minutes until the half. Feitshans then poured on the pressure and the Jacks threw the ball away, traveled, and failed to rebound with the much shorter host, and found themselves twenty points down, 36-16, at halftime.

Second Half

The Crimsons made several possible bids to catch Coach Bob Carpenter's Flyers, but the closest that they could creep was eight points. Sonny Walker, Feitshans' flashly 6-1 senior, kept Jacksonville at bay with some fine ball handling and clutch shooting.

Jacksonville opened the second half with a full court press, and began to pick up points, one by one, on the Flyers but at opportune times they were unable to muster that extra free throw or hit on an important field goal. Rich Sweeney stuffed a missed charity toss through the hoop with a minute left in the third period for a 47-36 score and Feitshans stalled out the remainder of the period. Chapman's quintet hit 8 of 18 attempts in the third stanza and picked up nine points on the winners, but it was to no avail.

Chip Baldwin scored on a fast break layup to pull Jacksonville to within 10, 50-40, in the first minute of the final canto. The two clubs then traded buckets before Baldwin scored on another fast break, following a free throw by Stanford, to pull the Crimsons to within nine. With four minutes and twenty seconds left in the nonconference contest, Baldwin added another charity toss to move the Jacks to as close as they had been since the first period, and as close as they were to come, eight points at 54-46. The Flyers then began to increase their margin once again and soon sported a 64-51 lead with less than a minute to play. The Crimsons did some rapid firing in the final few seconds and crept to within nine once again, but were downed by the Flyers with one second left to play and cashed in the charity toss for the final 10 point margin.

Feitshans finished with 23 field goals in 52 attempts for a creditable 44%. The Crimsons fell back on the second half performance, when they made 16 of 37 for 44% to finish with 20 of 69 shots for a lowly 29%. The two clubs had 36 fouls called against them, 18 on each squad.

Coach Bob Kraushaar's frosh-soph squad garnered a 24-24 tie at halftime, but were downed by the Flyers JV squad, 44-39.

BASEBALL IS NOT WORK

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Stan Musial summed up the other day how he feels about baseball.

Said the 40-year-old St. Louis Cardinals star:

"I don't call it work. Baseball never got to be work. If it had maybe I wouldn't feel about it the way I do. I love the game. It's been good to me. There's something about baseball when you put on that uniform that is hard to describe.

"A challenge, or something, something you feel in your heart that you can't put into words."

CANCELLATION FINAL

DAVOS, Switzerland (AP) — The International Skating Union Friday turned down a new request from Canada and declared its decision to cancel the World Figure Skating Championship is final.

The championships, scheduled for Prague next week, were canceled following the deaths of the entire 18-member U. S. team Wednesday in a plane crash near Brussels.

ROBINSON HELD TO JURY

CINCINNATI (AP)—Frank Robinson, Cincinnati baseball player, was held to the grand jury Friday on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

Robinson was arrested last week in a restaurant after he allegedly drew a pistol. The 25-year-old star said he drew the weapon after Arthur Messer, a cook, threatened him.

TRY A WANT AD

MacMurray Smothers Elmhurst Five, 70-51

Nineteen MacMurray College Highlanders saw action Friday night and fourteen of them scored as the Clansmen rolled to a 70-51 rout of Elmhurst College on the MacMurray hardwood.

The Highlanders were never in trouble in the contest, after Dave McCormick hit a free throw at the 10:14 mark in the first half to put MacMurray to a 12-11 lead they never relinquished. Previous to this both MacMurray and Elmhurst had trouble hitting the basket, and suffered a rash of ragged ball handling.

The Clansmen, led by Marv Hohenberger's 13 point first half, went on to take a commanding 34-18 halftime lead.

The second half was played in great part by Coach Bill Wall's reserves, who at times showed great potential, and at times lapsed into a fast but sloppy run and shoot duel with the Bluejays of Elmhurst. The Highlanders held their greatest lead at the 4:28 mark during the reserves' reign, leading Elmhurst by 27 points. The Bluejays trimmed the edge back to 21 points before the final buzzer which saw MacMurray take the victory 70-51.

Hohenberger led MacMurray's scoring with 17 points, but relinquished game honors to Earl Collignon of Elmhurst who collected 18 counters.

Both teams hit 50% from the free throw line, but MacMurray sank 27 of 64 from the field for a respectable 41.5%, while Elmhurst could muster only 18 baskets in 74 attempts for a cold 26.6%.

The Highlanders now boast a 15-5 record for the season as they face Wabash College in a crucial test on the home floor Saturday night.

Wabash Wednesday accepted a bid to participate in the NCAA post-season tourney, after trouncing Illinois Navy Pier Branch 118-60 last time out. The Giants' Charlie Bowerman, one of the midwest's finest guards, hit a phenomenal 63 points in the contest.

Coach Wall's basketballers, also eyeing a possible post-season bid, will be all business tonight as they try to break the Giants' ten game winning streak in the 8 p.m. game at MacMurray's Hardin Avenue fieldhouse.

WHAT EVER HAPPENED TO BABY JANE

By Henry Farrell

Copyright © 1960 by Henry Farrell Distributed by Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

XXIV

Hope, Blanche supposed, was the thing which had sustained her in those awful days of imprisonment. And hope was the thing she had lost when she had let herself drift off into the limbo of unknowingness. Now, like the life ebbing back into her stiffened fingers, hope had begun to return to her. And then she had a memory of Jane sitting there in the lamplight, her face so close—so sad and lost. Her gaze moved beyond her hand and caught a glimpse of the glass on the table and the bit of water that remained in it.

Remembering that she had spilled some of the water before, she reached out to the glass with both hands. At the same moment, however the sound of approaching footsteps, and she looked up in bright alarm.

Her thoughts, following what she had been through, were automatically those of fear and self-preservation. Her gaze darted toward the precious glass of water. Jane was coming to take it away from her!

The water was hers, and she meant to have it. She moved too swiftly, too carelessly; her stiffened fingers struck against the glass instead of curving around it, and she could only stare in horror as she saw it fall, heard it crash to the floor. Across the room, the door opened and Jane, wearing her soiled white wrapper, came in.

"Blanche," a voice said softly, "Blanche, please . . . I'm sorry. . . ."

A sigh, a faint breath of relief, touched Blanche's lips. Then it was over, the horror, really, really over, at last. She looked up at Jane, feeling a sudden and totally unreasoning rush of love. She nodded her head to indicate her forgiveness.

The damp cloth moved upon her arms and her hands. It felt good, good. . . . She let her eyes close again and felt herself drifting off into a state of blissful suspension. She did not actually sleep, for she was aware of Jane lifting her up to change the bed linen, and then again, to put a fresh pillow beneath her head. Then she was given food, warm soup from a cup, one careful spoonful at a time. As the food reached her stomach, she had a slight sensation of nausea, but there was also a feeling of revitalization, a gradual loosening of the numbness that had gripped her body.

• • •

She looked around to find Jane sitting close to the bed, hunched forward, tears streaming down her face.

"You'll help me, won't you?" she said. "I'm—I'm so afraid, Blanche—and there's nobody but you. If they find me—if they find out—I don't know what they'll do to me!"

Blanche stared at the frightened, contorted face.

"It was her own fault. She wouldn't go away. I told her to go—and she wouldn't. You have a right, don't you, to—to do something—when a person won't get out of your own house? I didn't know—I didn't mean to kill her!"

Kill! The word leapt into Blanche's awareness as if it had been shouted with fierce stridency out of a dead silence. Again a vision rose mistily at the back of her mind. There was a figure—falling—falling—and then—the slam of a door. It hovered briefly on the threshold of recall and then abruptly vanished.

"We have to stick together, Blanche, you and me," Jane was saying tensely. "Daddy always told us that, remember? We're the same flesh and blood—no matter what. Blanche, you won't let them hurt me, will you? Blanche? . . ."

Blanche continued to stare in silent horror. Jane had said kill. She shrank back against her pillow, pulling herself away from Jane. It was a mistake: Jane's tear-stained face instantly hardened.

• • •

"Talk to me!" she demanded harshly. "Why don't you talk to me? You don't care, do you? You're jealous of me . . . and you hate me . . . and you want bad things to happen to me, you always have!" And then evidently shocked by her own harsh words, she stopped, staring down at Blanche.

"No, I didn't mean it," she said quickly. "Blanche I'll take care of you—I will—and you'll see—you'll like me again. You need me to take care of you; you really do. . . . I'll comb your hair and fix it so you'll be pretty. You're the pretty one, Blanche—everyone always said so. I'll be good to you, Blanche—if you'll just help me and not leave me alone. You heard. . . . And they'll believe you. They always believe you. . . ."

Caught and held by the intensity of Jane's gaze, Blanche could only stare back at her. Still she was unable to understand. Jane wanted something of her, that much was clear, but she didn't know what it was. Nonetheless, the black dizziness of fatigue beginning to turn inside her head, she nodded.
